Auditorium Dedication

Highlighting hours of anticipation, the auditorium was dedicated in May 1975. Stacey Cox and Margie Rockstroh were main influences toward getting the School Board to approve the building. At the commencement of the ceremony, David Norris and Margie Rockstroh cut the ribbon, enabling access to the entrance. Paul Paliyenko, the '75 senior class president, and Margie Rockstroh gave speeches at the dedication. David Norris, the '75 Executive Council president, was the master of ceremonies. Karen Reynolds read the poem "The Builders." The band and the chorus each performed several numbers.

Sidewalk Art Show '75

Monty Montague enjoys the event.

After many hours of preparation, the first annual Sidewalk Art Show was held in May 1975. Projects by the art students were not only on display, but also on sale. Paul Paliyenko, Lee Bumgardner and Christy Dion were three students who received awards for their portfolios. Students and the public expressed great interest and as a result the show was the center of attraction throughout the day. As the event drew to a close, eight hundred dollars worth of paintings had been sold. The first annual Sidewalk Art Show set a precedence for following years.

Junior Honor Guard '75

Based upon scholastic ability, sixteen students were selected as the Junior Honor Guard. Chosen in May 1975, the Junior Honor Guard participated in Class Day and handed out programs at Awards Night. The most important task of the Guard, however, was helping out in the Graduation ceremony, which included leading the Seniors into the Coliseum. After the ceremony, the Junior Honor Guard helped distribute diplomas.

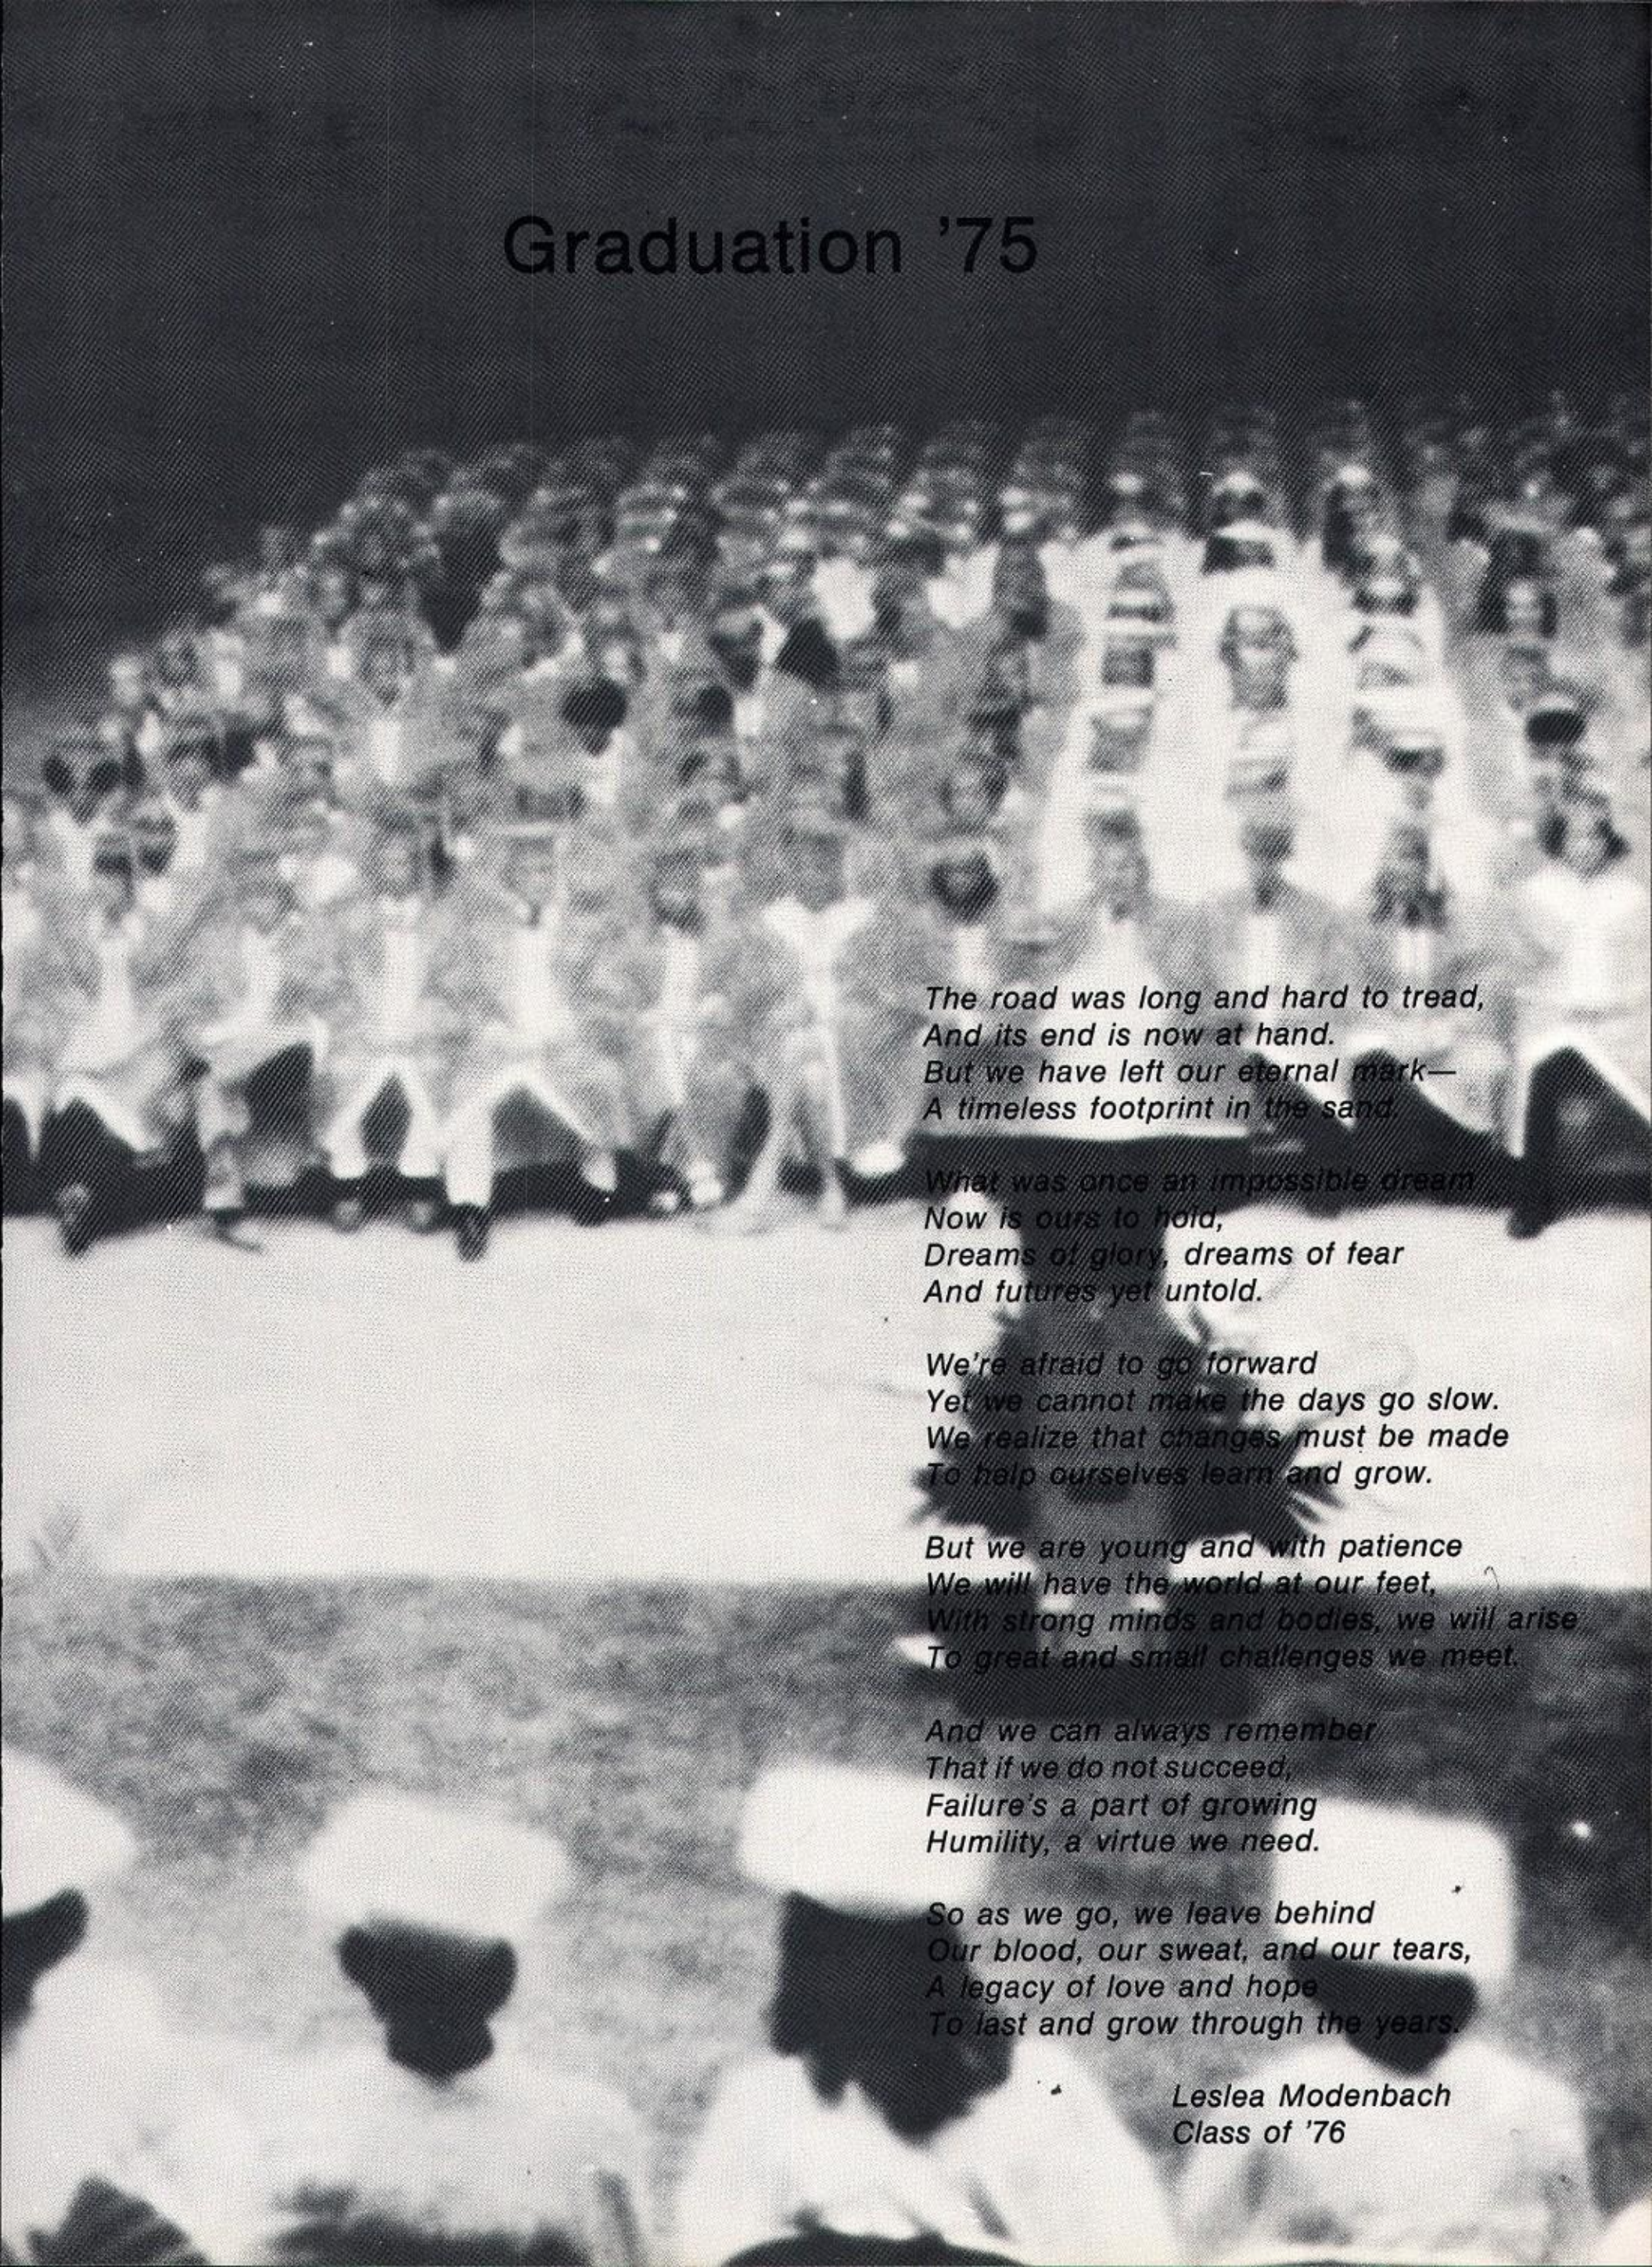
Graduation '75



The road was long and hard to tread,
And its end is now at hand.
But we have left our eternal mark—
A timeless footprint in the sand.

What was once an impossible dream
Now is ours to hold,
Dreams of glory, dreams of fear
And futures yet untold.

We're afraid to go forward
Yet we cannot make the days go slow.
We realize that changes must be made
To help ourselves learn and grow.

But we are young and with patience
We will have the world at our feet,
With strong minds and bodies, we will arise
To great and small challenges we meet.

And we can always remember
That if we do not succeed,
Failure's a part of growing
Humility, a virtue we need.

So as we go, we leave behind
Our blood, our sweat, and our tears,
A legacy of love and hope
To last and grow through the years.

Prom '75

A song written by John Denver, "Poems, Prayers, and Promises," was the theme for the 1974-75 Junior-Senior Prom. The junior class presented the invitations and the programs; they also painted the backdrop, decorated the tables, and secured the bands. Two bands, The Magnificents and Clear Smoke, were provided so that continuous music could be played throughout the evening. The Prom was held at the Downtowner East on May 17, 1975. It was a night to remember and a morning to forget.

Homecoming '75

Adding the final touch to the Homecoming festivities, the varsity football team scored an overwhelming victory against East, 21-7. Since the "Roaring Twenties" was the theme, buildings were decorated with signs and pictures conveying a '75 Skidoo. The Senior Class was announced "the Max," winning the building decoration contest. Thursday was Red and White Day and on Friday students dressed in the apparel of the twenties. The Pep Band, Cheerleaders, and Lettergirls performed during the pep rally which was held Friday. That night, during halftime at the game, Linda Bratton was crowned Homecoming queen for 1975.

"Up The Down Staircase"

Presented on November 14 and 15 in the new auditorium, "Up the Down Staircase" revealed the many talents of the members of the Drama Department. The play, written by Bel Kaufmann, concerned Miss Barrett, a teacher in a New York high school, and the problems she encountered with her students. Lys Anderson, as Miss Barrett, led the large cast, which included a number of sophomores.

Civitan Youth Conference

Representing South at the Civitan Youth Conference were Louise Dunlap, Billy Katibah, Katie McKelvey, Kari Still and David Warlick. The students were selected after submitting a detailed application to a screening committee consisting of members of the North and South Carolina Civitan Clubs. The purpose of the conference was to bring young people from North and South Carolina together for guidance in the art of leadership and human relations. The week long session was held in Cleveland, S.C., in July.

Girls' And Boys' State

Ann Crowley, Jody Jones

To understand better the ideals and objectives of government, students from all over North Carolina were selected to attend Girls' and Boys' State. Ann Crowley and Jody Jones attended UNC-G during the week of June 8-14 while David Bishop and David Furr traveled to Wake Forest. The students set up a mock government consisting of city officials and state officials. After the government was formed, the students attended rallies and passed bills. Guest speakers, such as North Carolina Attorney General Rufus Edminsten highlighted the week, which was sponsored by the American Legion.

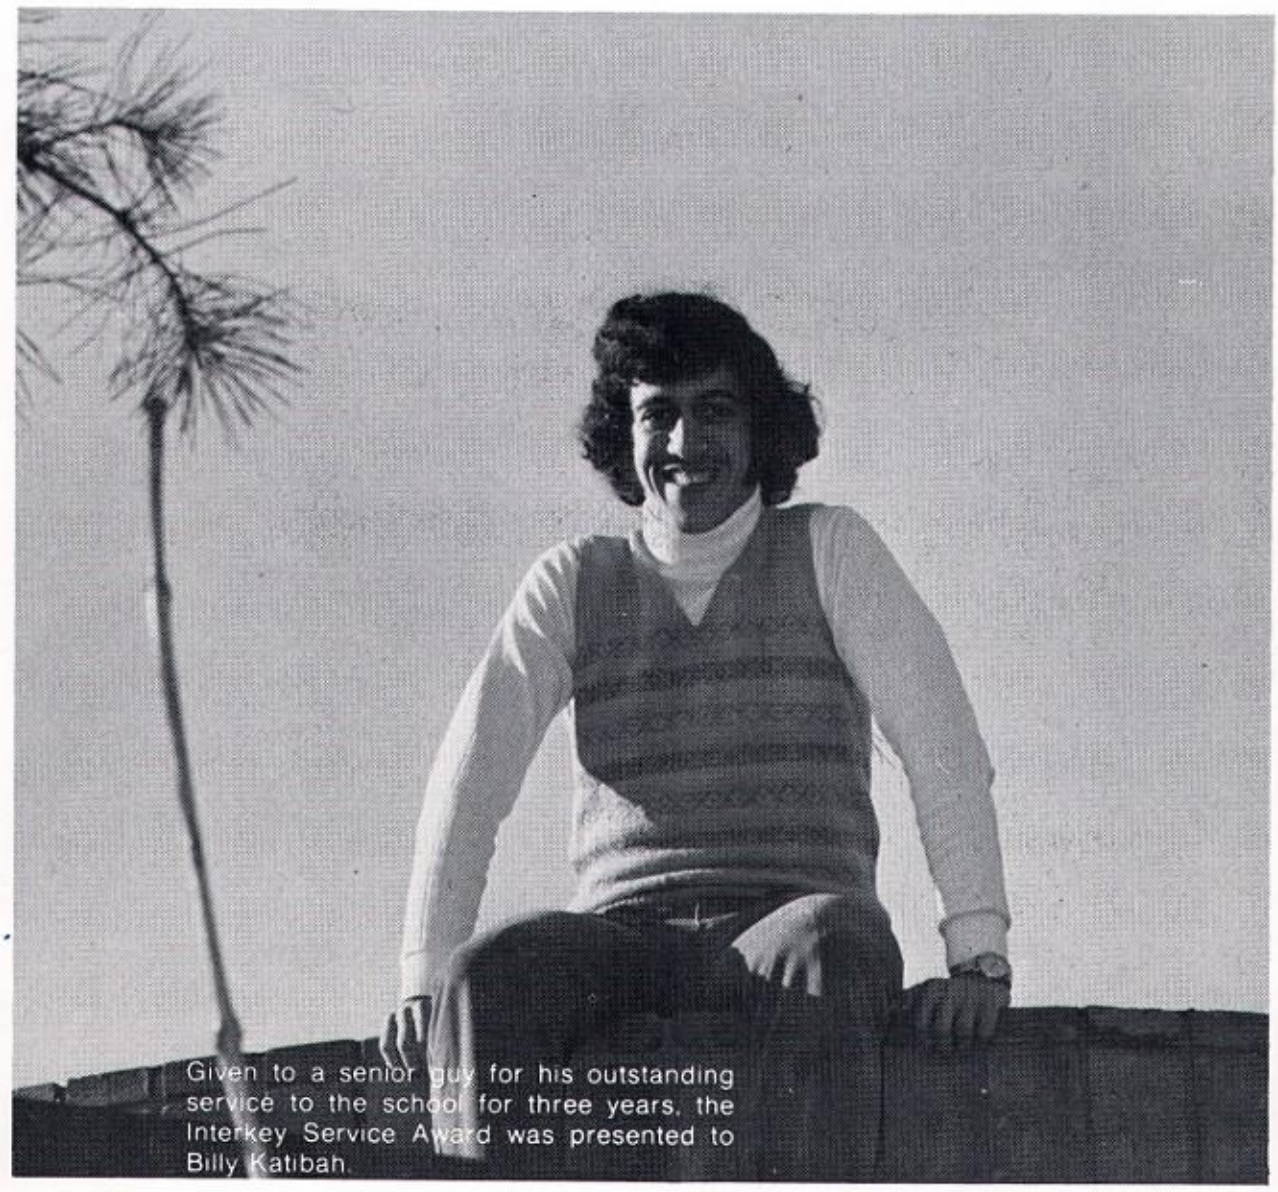
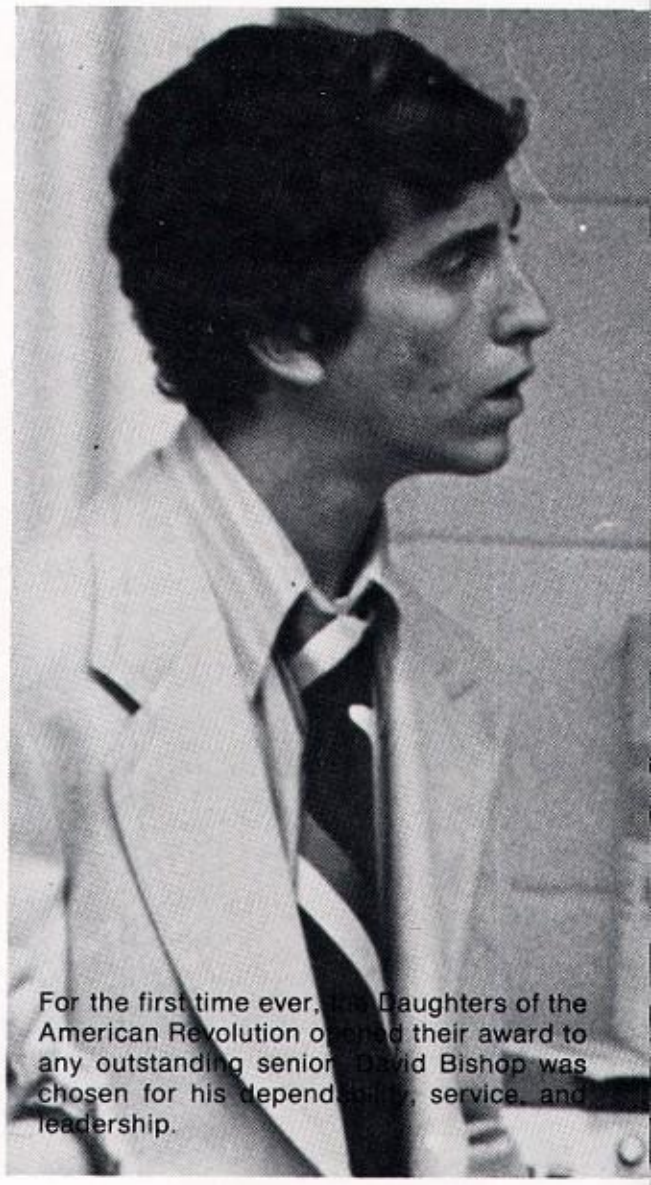
Service Awards



Given to a senior guy for his outstanding service to the school for three years, the Interkey Service Award was presented to Billy Katibah.



For the first time ever, the Daughters of the American Revolution opened their award to any outstanding senior. David Bishop was chosen for his dependability, service, and leadership.

An award not given since 1972, the Interact Service Award was given to Diane Murphy for her dedication to the SOMECKA for three years.

The SOS club selected Kari Still as their Member of the Year for her devotion and service to the club.

Governor's School

Acceptance to Governor's School was decided through an in-depth application, a scholastic test, and finally a personal interview. Governor's School, a six-week program held in Old Salem, was concerned with twentieth century ideas and theories in the area of fine arts. The three South representatives were provided with an opportunity for an intense study of their respective talents. Sheila Campbell was selected for her dancing ability, Lea Kibler for her musical talent as a flutist, and Jane Sattler for her outstanding artwork.

Senior Follies '76

Following the theme of "Be Young, Be Foolish, But Be Happy," emcees David Warlick and Bo Sammons combined humorous skits with the various musical and comedy acts. Musical highlights included Lea Kibler's performance of "We May Never Pass This Way Again," Tommy George's solo of "Funeral For a Friend," and "Color My World" by Chuck Curlin's group. Comedy acts included "Cheap Can Be Neat," the Miss America Beauty Pageant, and the National Honor Society skit. Senior Follies held its first matinee performance on Thursday, February 19, during third and fourth periods; other show dates were February 20 and 21. A special highlight of the Friday night show was an explanation of the ABC's by the teachers.

Baseball Team Gains Valuable Experience

Kevin Bell is foiled at his attempted steal.

The baseball team had a disappointing season in the spring of 1975, finishing with a conference record of 1-8. But under the leadership of co-captains Kevin Bell and Herb Hedden and Coach Boger, the players gained valuable experience. Competing with a busy schedule, they played every team but Myers Park twice. The team finished ninth in the conference with an overall record of 1-17.

Voted Most Valuable Player was Larry Wright and Most Improved Player was Joey Tatum.

Girls' Track Has Best Season Ever

In regular season action, the 1975 girls' track team placed first three times, second twice, and third once, to make it the best record ever for the team. With help from Coach Hanes, captains Gail Reeves and Michelle Langan led the team to a fourth place in the conference. Valerie Ford, Michelle Langan, and Harriet Saxton placed first, second, and fifth respectively in their individual events at the sectional meet. After qualifying for the state meet in Raeford, N. C., Valerie Ford finished third in the mile run and Michelle Langan leaped to a second place in the high jump.

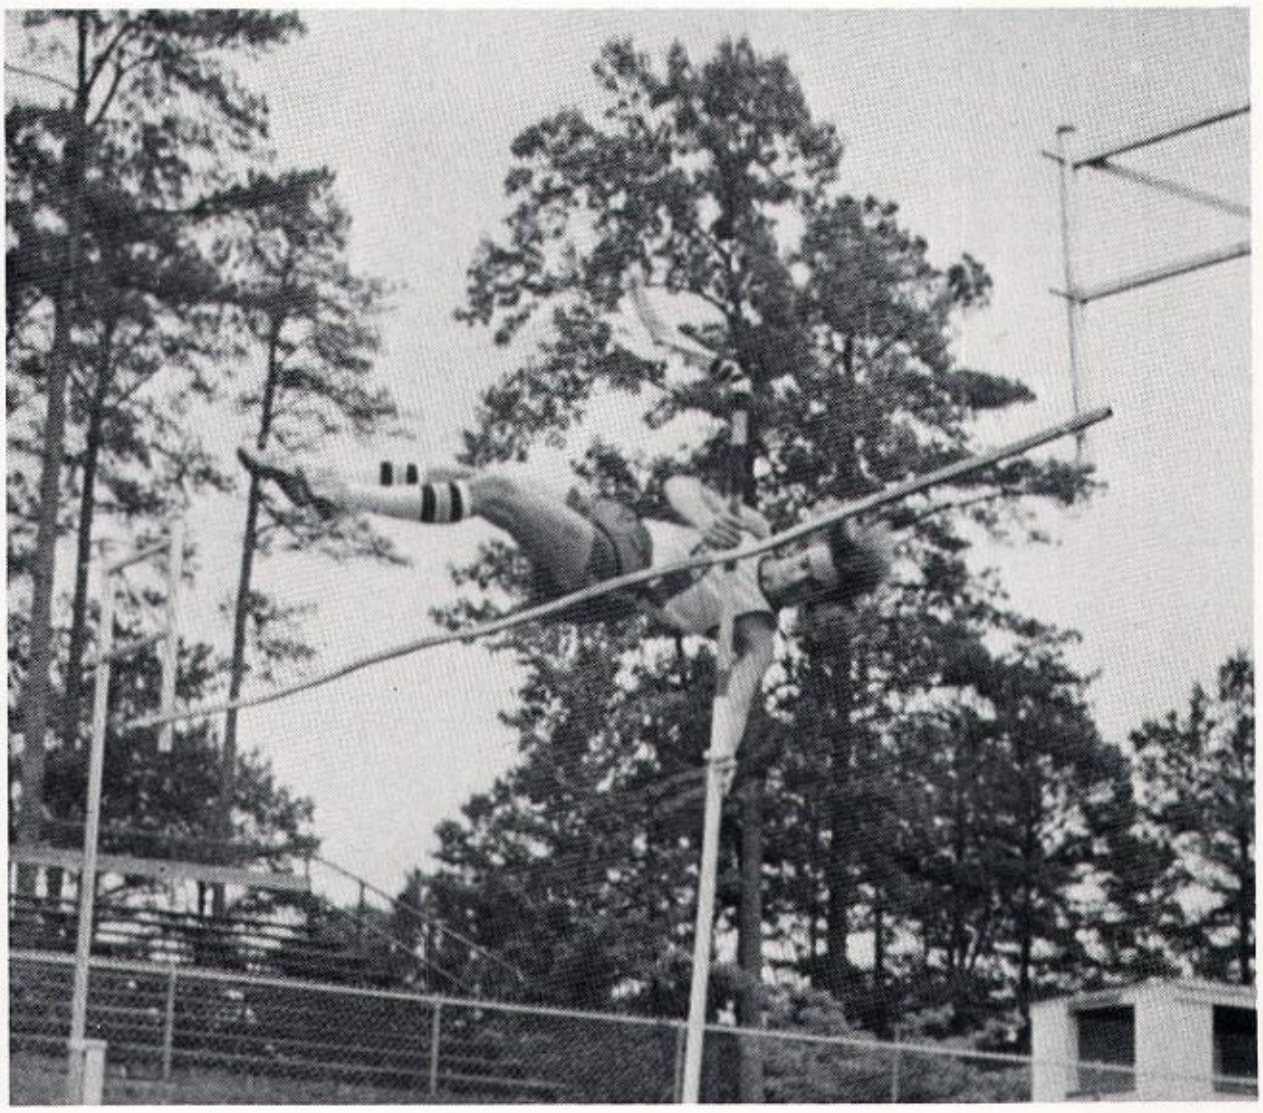
Track Team Breaks Three Records



Tim Krantz breaks the previous record of 13'0" in the pole vault.

Breaking three records last season, the 1975 track team placed fifth in the conference. Walter Sullivan led the team in the shot put and the discus throw with 52'1½" and 160'7½" respectively. Tim Krantz achieved the highest pole vault ever with 13'4".

Captain Mike Sieving and the team, under the direction of Head Coach Nelson and Assistant Coaches Garmon and Price, placed third in the division.

Golfers Win State Championship

Randy Nelms, Ashley Graeber, Wayne Tiddy, Daryl Tiddy, Joe Selzer, Coach Baldwin.

Led by captain Wayne Tiddy, who was voted Most Outstanding Player, the golf team achieved their goal to be 1975 State Champions. They defeated Reidsville by one stroke and Myers Park by five strokes in the final two matches for the championship.

The golf team was first in Division 9 with 2167 as compared to second place Independence with 2190. In the divisional match, the team won second place, narrowly defeated by Myers Park by one stroke. The golfers then went on to Chapel Hill to win the final matches.

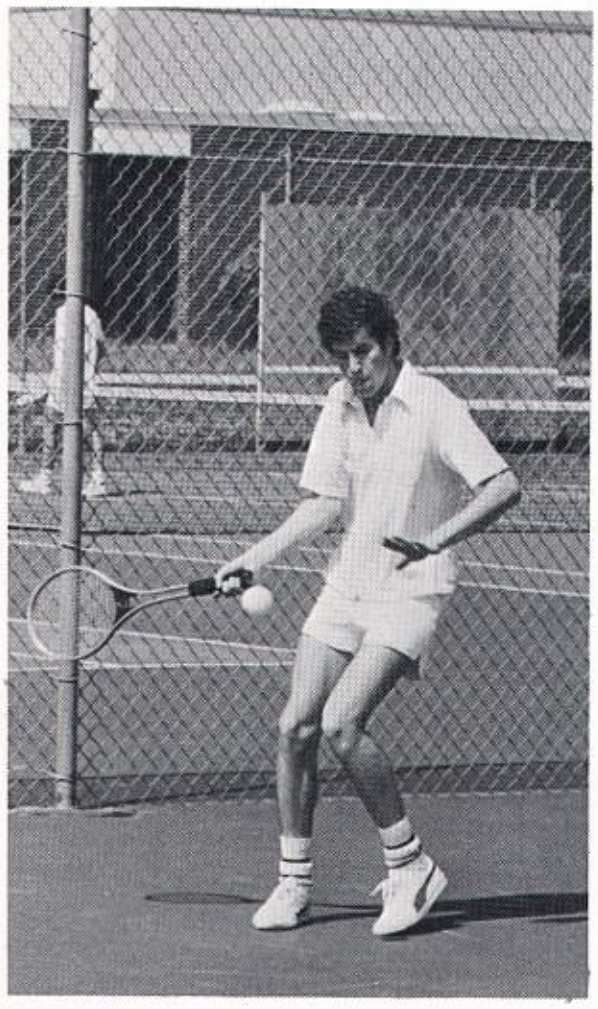
Parker Voted Most Outstanding

With a third place finish in the sectional tournament, Coach Vernon's tennis squad completed the 1975 season as a winner. Captain Steve Parker, also voted Most Outstanding Player, added balance to the eight member team. A 4-2 record in regular conference matches built confidence for the Sectional play.



Determined David Bishop is forced to the fence by opponent's smash.

Girls' Tennis Team Finishes Third

Losing only two times in nine matches, the twelve member girls' tennis team completed the season in third position in conference play. Most Valuable Player Carol Kelly teamed with Tammy Noland to win the doubles matches at both the sectional competition, held at South, and in the state competition. Rebecca Barnette was the singles finalist in the sectional matches.

Junior Varsity Gains Experience

Accomplishing a difficult task, Coach Caldwell and Coach Davis combined players who graduated from different junior high schools into one junior varsity football team. The squad played eight games, winning four and losing four. Since each person served as captain of the team at one point during the season, the players gained experience for next year and valuable knowledge of the importance of teamwork.

First Annual Ty-D-Bowl Held

Powder Puff Football became an interscholastic sport this year when the senior girls traveled to East Mecklenburg for the first annual Ty-D-Bowl Game. Captains Ann Crowley and Susan Martin and Coach Douglass gave the team invaluable leadership and guidance. The spectators' spirit was led by the Letterguys and the "cheerleaders." During the halftime festivities, Chuck Curlin was selected as the Ty-D-Bowl King. After two halves of constant effort and one touchdown called back for off-sides, the Eagle girls clawed their way to victory with a score of 14-0.

Bowlers Compete Interscholastically

Bowlers await the outcome of their shots.

Organized under the direction of advisers Mr. Hillier and Mr. Decatur, South bowlers competed on the regular intramural squad and for the first time, on an interscholastic level. Both girls and boys competed in the matches, several of which were against Charlotte Catholic High School.

The girls were led by Grayce Mann with a high average of 140. The most outstanding bowler over-all was David Murphy, captain of the first place intramural team. He achieved the highest average, 160, and also the highest series, 569.

Brenda Woods rolls her second ball.

Cross Country Team Includes Girl

An inexperienced Cross Country team, with only two returning runners, Eddie Odom and David Bishop, completed a season that could rival previous Sabre efforts. The elected captains, David Bishop and Jesse Camp, sparked the runners to a sixteen wins and seven losses season. For the first time ever, a girl, Valerie Ford, qualified for the Cross Country team, along with the other thirteen runners. Finishing a strong fourth in the Division 9 conference meet exhibited Coach Price's ability to build a winning team from rookie runners.

With five returning varsity players, six juniors, and two promising sophomores, Coach Price guided the team to a 22-6 regular season record. Securing first place in the conference early in the year, the varsity basketball squad held off all serious challengers throughout the season. Tying for the honor of Most Valuable Player, captains Todd Crowley and Reggie White combined their abilities to lead the team and mold it into a unified group. James Yates was named Most Improved Player.

Teammates combine efforts for the score.

With less than one-third of the girls returning from last year's squad, the girls' volleyball team came close to repeating their perfect record of last year. The seventeen member team, increased from ten players last year, finished the season with a record of 6-2.

Becky Ziccardi gets into position for the hit.

Injuries Plague Wrestling Team

As a first year effort for Coach Eckhart and Asst. Coach Debonair, the 0-12 record was not a total defeat. The JV squad was forced to enter each match with an 18 point deficit because of the lack of a heavyweight wrestler. Both the JV and Varsity teams were plagued by injuries throughout the season.

Two school records were set by Mark Dozier: fastest pin, 37 seconds, and fastest takedown, six seconds. Dozier won eleven of his twelve matches. Captain Dee Altman finished the regular with eight wins and four losses.

Boost School Spirit

Cappy McKenzie and the Sabre do the "bump."

Co-head Kim Trimble leads the squad in a cheer.

Yelling for the team they love, the Varsity Cheerleaders led the "spirit" section at all football and basketball games. Determined to produce a superior squad, the girls attended practice sessions during the summer. Co-heads Linda Bratton and Kim Trimble mixed humor, cheers, and various skits to give the pep rallies a special boost. The group practiced everyday during sixth period; they sold pom-poms throughout the year. They also participated in the Fall Sports Banquet.

Barbara Mialik and Kelly Blanton show their enthusiasm as the Sabres score a touchdown.

JV Cheerleaders

Pleading for yet another score, the Junior Varsity Cheerleaders penetrated the noise of the crowds with their cries for victory. The girls, who met after school, were headed by Teresa Suarez. They performed at all JV football and basketball games, bringing recognition and pride to the sophomore class. The JV Cheerleaders also backed the soccer team at the Regional playoffs. In addition, the girls assisted the Varsity Cheerleaders and the Lettergirls at all pep rallies.

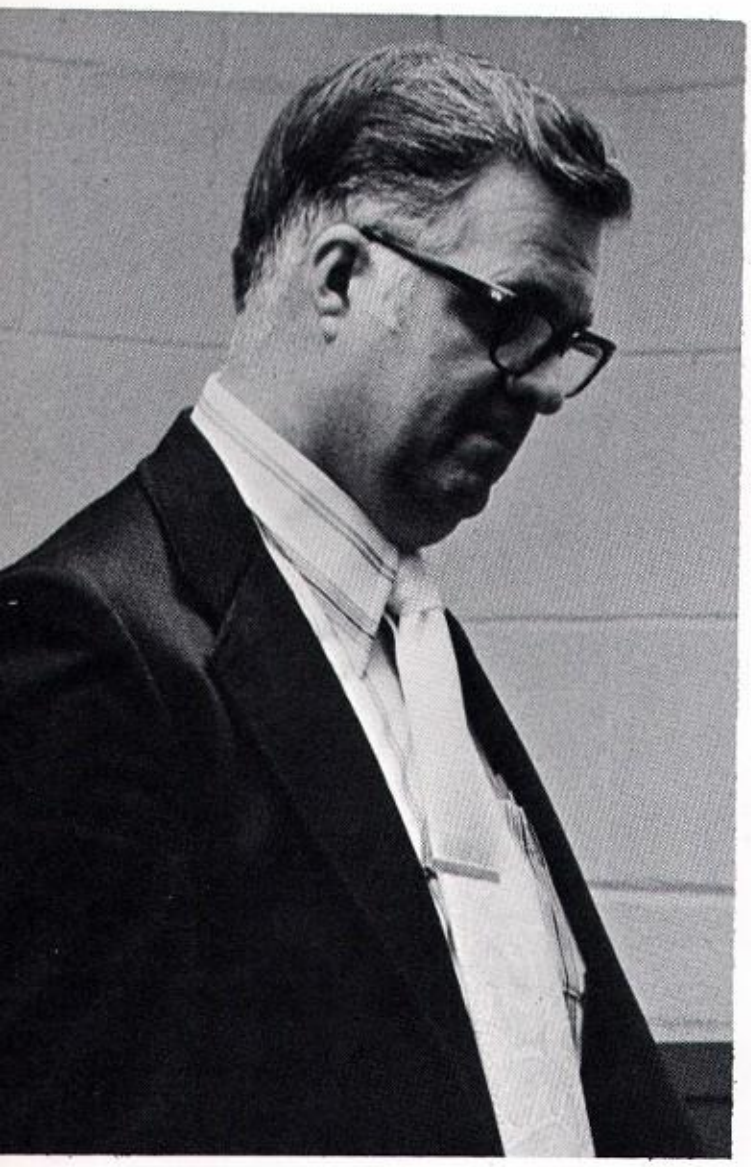
ACADEMICS

Mr. Richardson Meets With Parents

In his third year as principal at South, Mr. Richardson has two main goals for the school. They are improving teaching methods and having better relationships with the parents of the students. A new program has been initiated, meeting with the parents of sophomore students every Wednesday morning, to achieve this relationship. These small groups help acquaint the parents with general aspects of high school life.

Three new buildings are in the planning stages at the present time: a classroom building, an addition to the gym, and an auto mechanics building.



Mr. Richardson shows his concern over school problems.

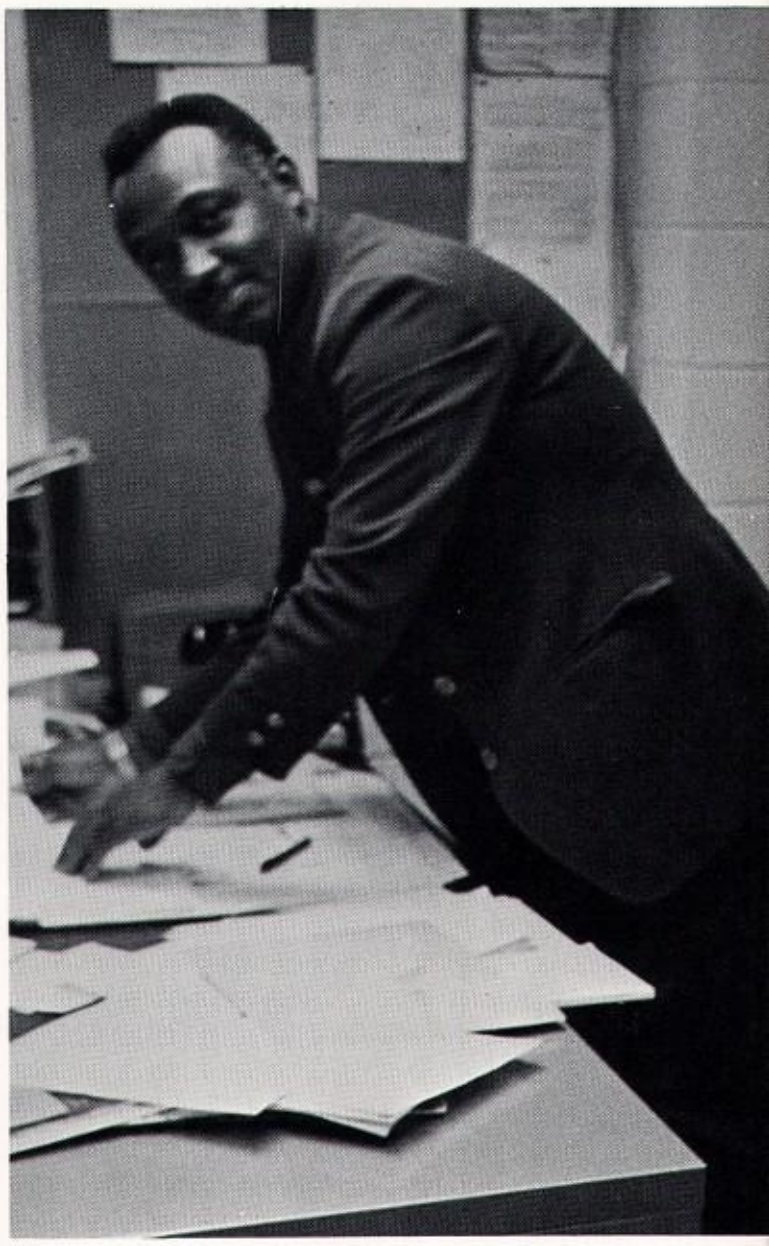
Administrators Work For Students

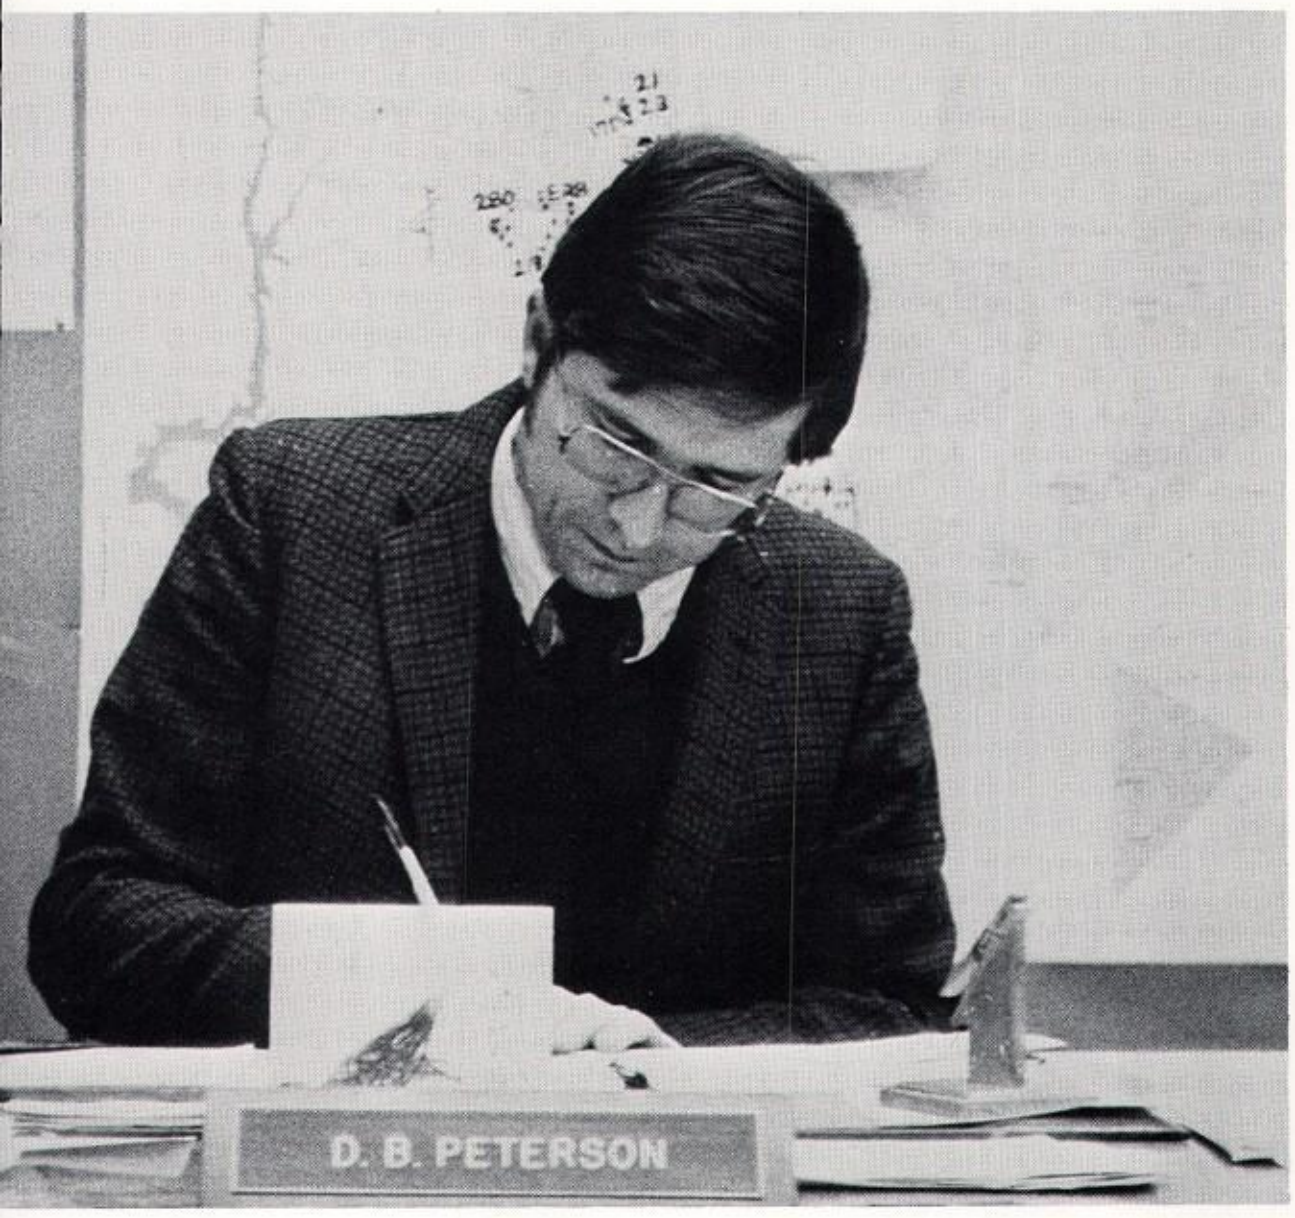
Mrs. Taylor ponders over schedule changes.

Assistant to the Principal Mrs. Taylor and Assistant Principals Mr. Little and Mr. Peterson, are vital assets to the school. Mrs. Taylor, the curriculum coordinator, is involved in placing students in their classes.

Working with disciplinary problems are Mr. Little and Mr. Peterson. In addition, Mr. Little is in charge of attendance and book distribution. Mr. Peterson handles all aspects of seeing that the students get to and from school safely.



Mr. Little sees another victim.



Mr. Peterson works hard to keep buses rolling.

Counselors Stress Group Meetings

The major emphasis in the Guidance Department is "Group Experiences." All students have met with their respective counselors in the Guidance Office for credit checks, information concerning special tests and colleges, and vocational materials.

Other points emphasized are self-evaluation, value clarification, intensive-interactions, honest communication, and a controlled setting to "blow-off steam." An atmosphere of freedom and growth is found in the Guidance Office.

Mrs. Reaves consults Mrs. Eubanks about a student transfer.

Mrs. Knight, Mrs. Floyd, and Mrs. Perreault help students solve their scholastic problems.

Mr. Cochrane, Career Counselor, relaxes in his office.

Mr. Turner works hard at finishing senior transcripts.

Mrs. Griffis enjoys secretarial chores.

Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Brantley, and Mrs. Gibson take a break from their clerical duties.

Secretaries Perform Daily Routines

Working as Mr. Richardson's secretary, Mrs. Fulghum has a full schedule.

The most essential members of the personnel staff are the secretaries. Their regular duties include typing, accounting, and knowing the whereabouts of the students. They also give their time to do favors for everyone around the campus.

Each of the secretaries has jobs for which she is responsible. Mr. Richardson's personal secretary, Mrs. Fulghum, sets up his appointments and does all of his paperwork. The two office secretaries are Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Brantley. Mrs. Griffis is the library secretary, and the bookkeeper is Mrs. Gibson.

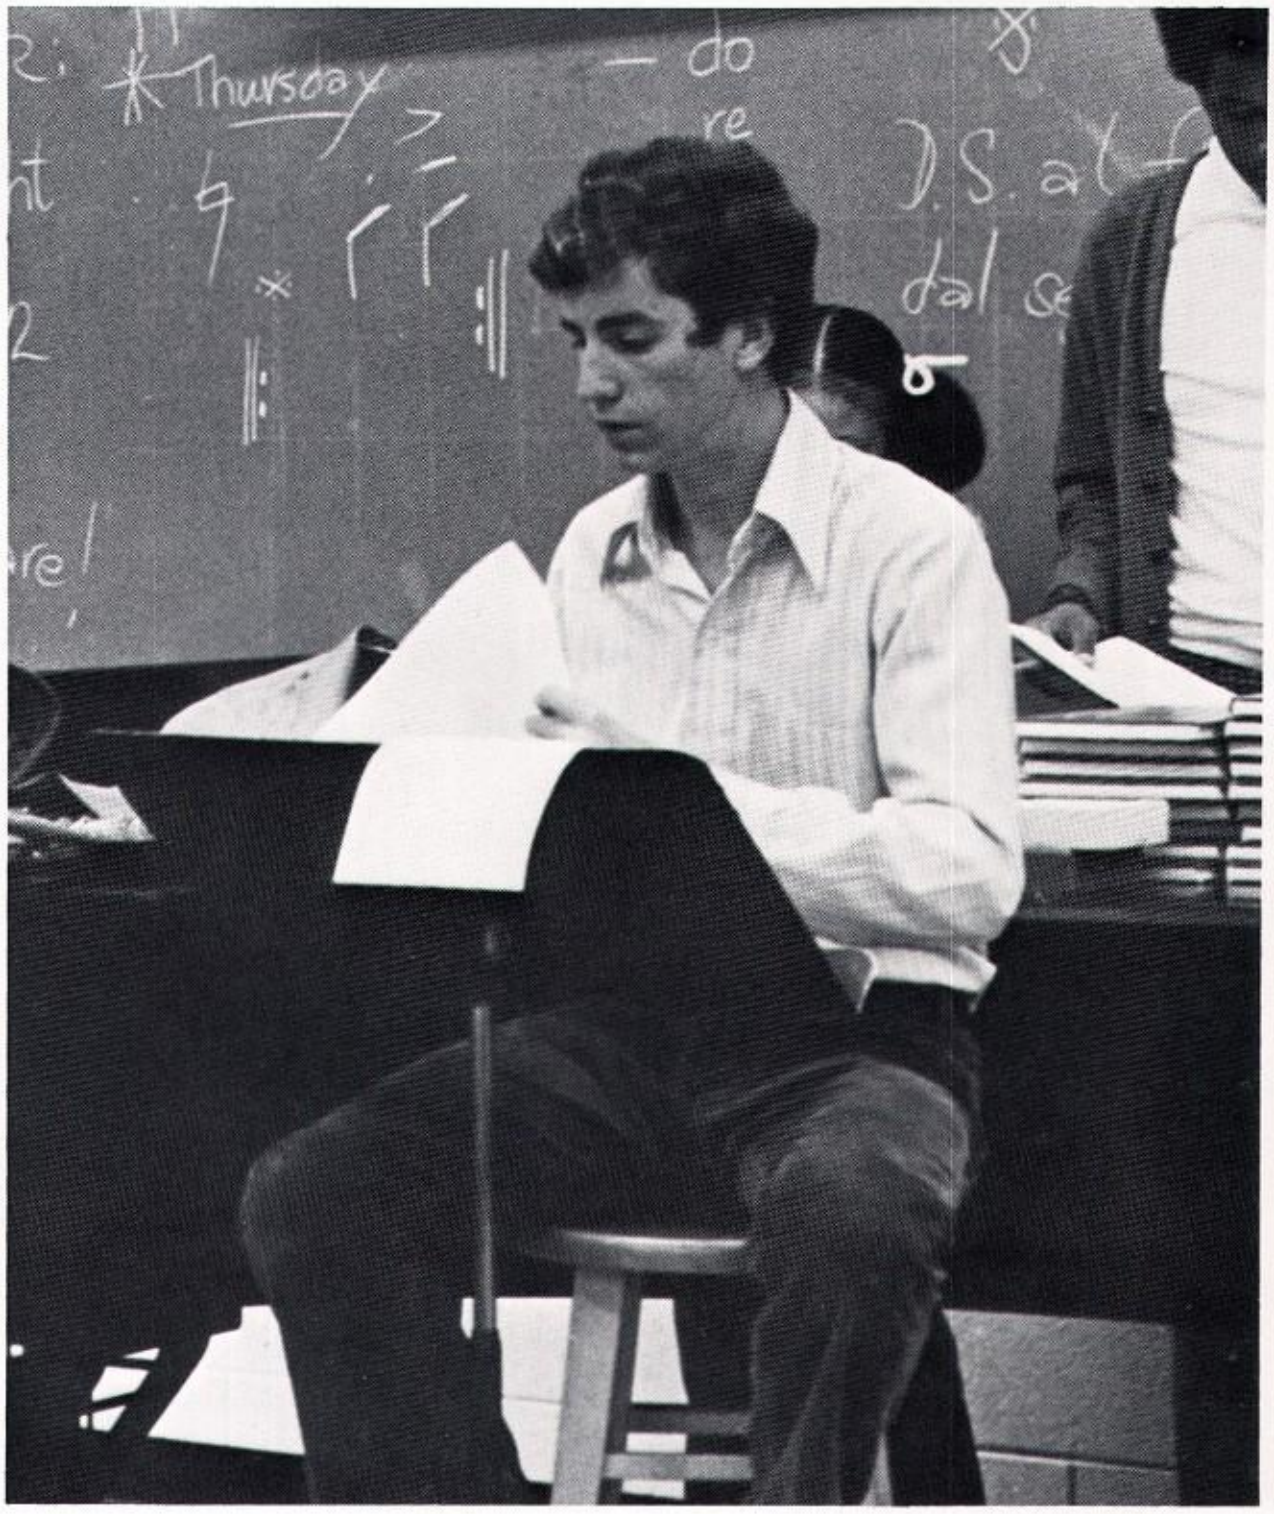
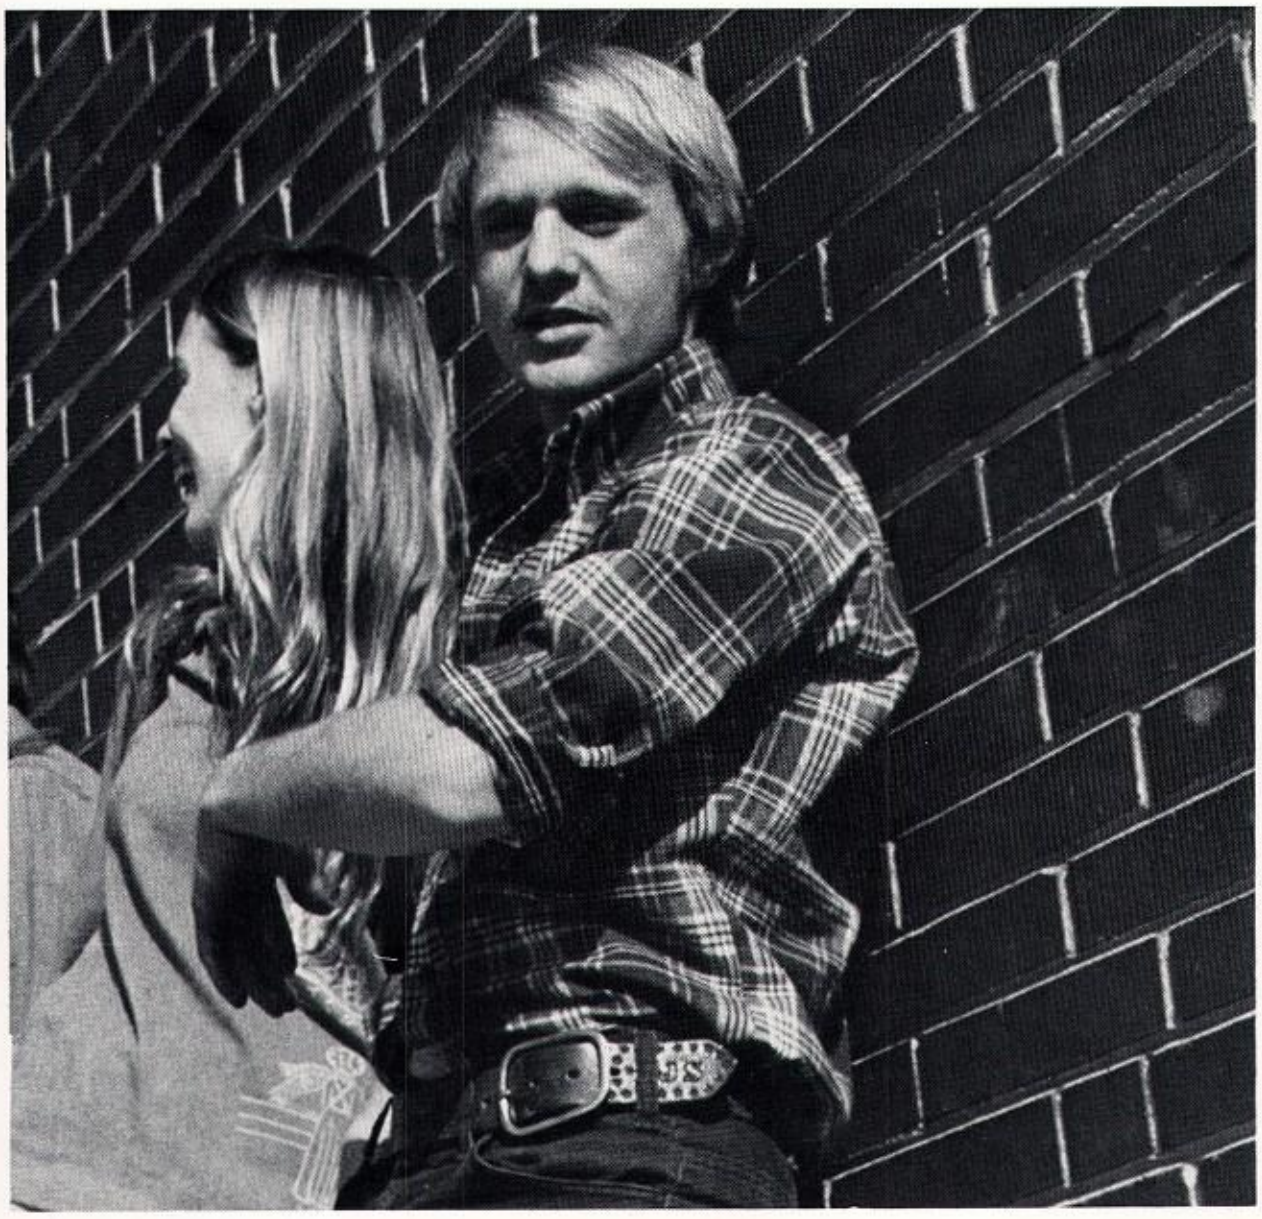
Treasurer David Furr, David Strassner and Bob Kochuk review agenda for the next meeting.

Brad Johnston makes his point clear.



President David Bishop concludes a meeting of the Executive Council.

Makes For Successful Year



Vice-president "Bawana" Stewart relaxes before sixth period meeting.

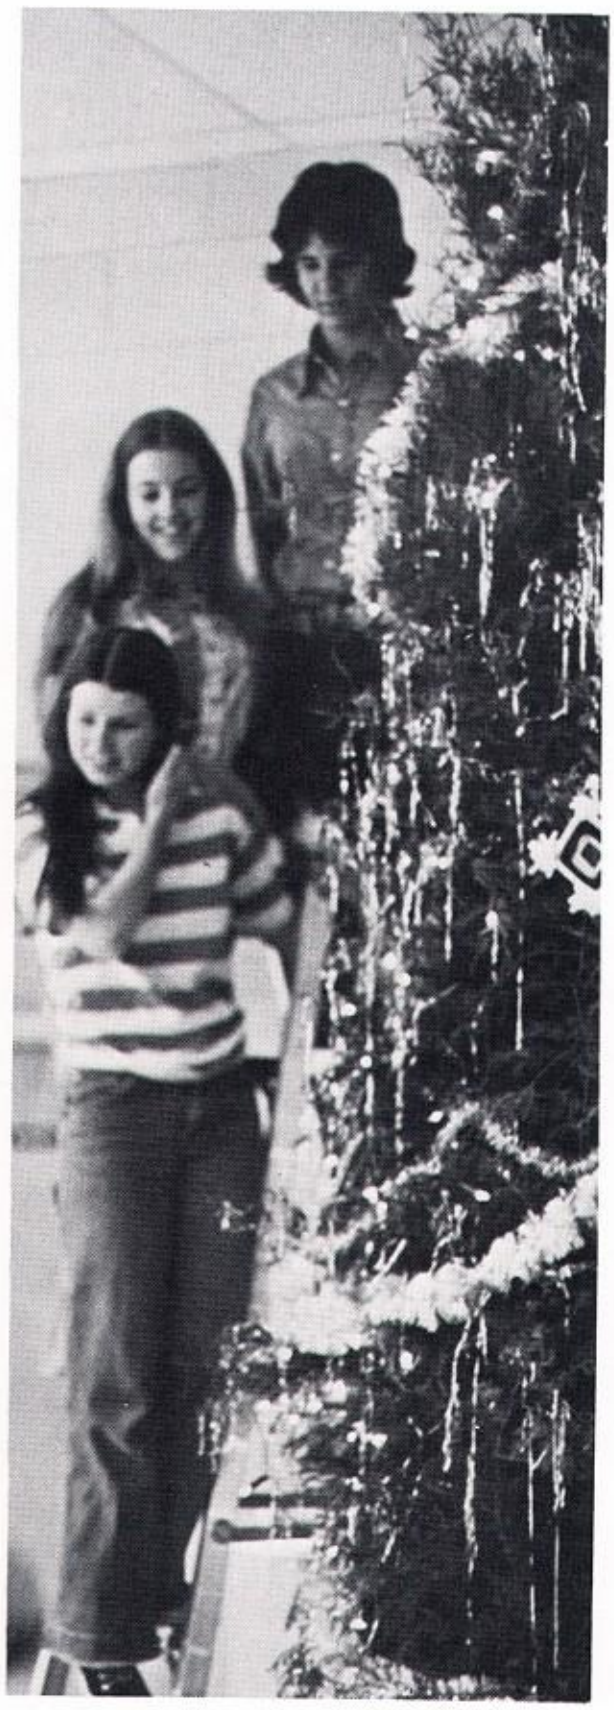
Harriet Porter enjoys an outdoor meeting.

Striving to meet the students' needs and desires, the Executive Council planned many varying projects resulting in a very busy and profitable year. Beginning with the responsibility of acquainting the Sophomore Class with South, the Council planned an Orientation Day. During Homecoming Week, the group sponsored a corsage sale and took charge of the Homecoming halftime. The Homecoming Concert was just one of three such activities during the year; the other two were an Exam Jam, co-sponsored by the ICC, and a Disco. Money from the concerts went in part to help finance the color in the Senior Section of the SOMECKA. The Council supported a needy family at Christmas and made fruit baskets for all the custodians. The cafeteria was decorated and a Christmas tree was put up in the mall to help celebrate the holiday.

David Bishop, Executive Council president, and David Strassner attended the Charlotte Student Coordinating Council, participating in the improvement of student relations. The Executive Council also sponsored an all-day workshop early in the year for Student Council members: the three class councils, Homeroom representatives, and the Executive Council.

Alan Richmond smiles on way to set up for the Disco.

Student Council Sponsors Concerts



Shari Bowden, Patty Parker, and Bob Kochuk decorate the Christmas tree.

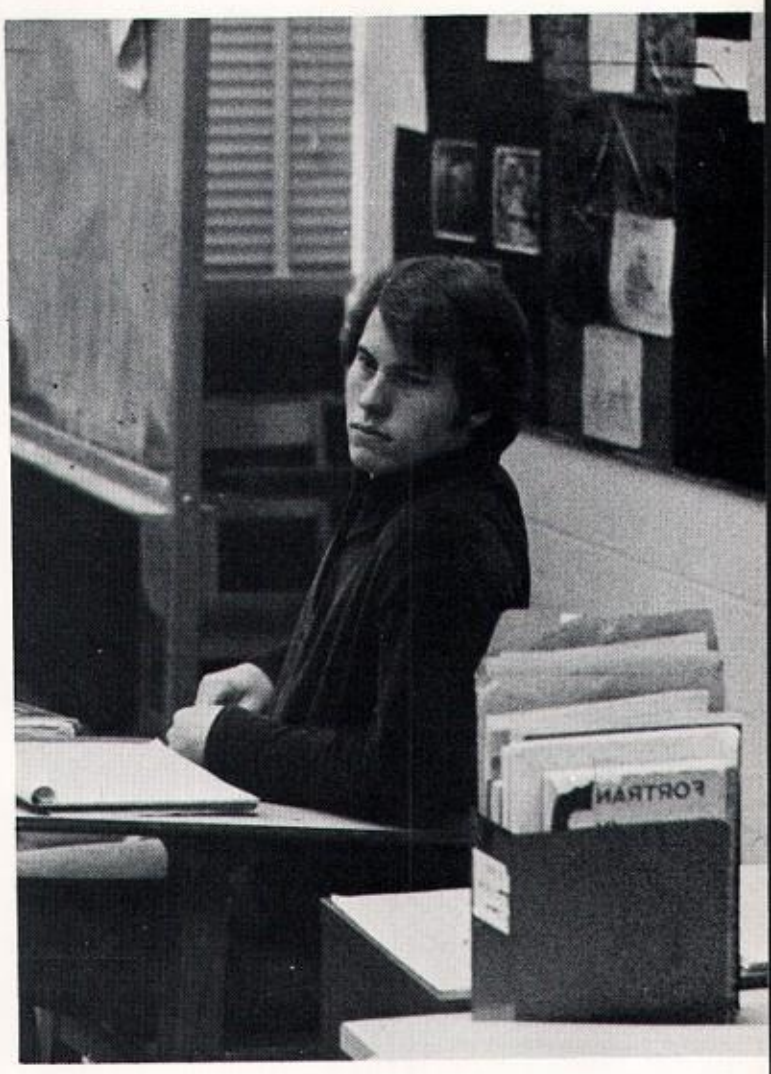
The Exam Jam provides relaxation for Dexter Yager and Cathy Wavrick.

ICC Co-ordinates Club Activities

ICC members discuss an upcoming project.

Composed of the presidents of every active organization at South, the Interclub Council strove to co-ordinate all club activities. In addition, Chairman David Strassner and the ICC sponsored several projects, including treats for a needy family at Thanksgiving, a calendar for the mall, and the annual Donkey Basketball game in the spring. The organization also co-sponsored the Exam Jam with the Student Council.



Chairman David Strassner contemplates possible dates for Donkey Basketball.

Club presidents plan the next month's calendar.

Staff Changes Format Of SOMECKA

Following the leadership of editor Diane Murphy, the SOMECKA staff strove to eliminate all errors for the final copy. After a few weeks of basic instruction about layouts, copy, headlines, captions, and picture cropping, the staff divided into the different sections, including Athletics, Academics, Organizations, Classes, and Ads. Student Life was divided and a special section, Features, was created. Mr. Blanton, adviser, worked with the staff to assure that the '76 SOMECKA was the best annual ever.

Julie Pinkston and Mitzi Stroupe check old annuals for layout ideas.

SOMECKA Business Raises $1700

SOMECKA Business Staff members discuss plans for the Ads section of the annual with Mrs. Fowler.

Representing an important facet of the SOMECKA organization, members of the Business Staff worked long hours to fulfill the financial needs of the yearbook. With Jane Finley as Business Manager and Debbie Burns as Advertising Editor, the four member staff raised over seventeen hundred dollars despite a tight money situation. The SOMECKA Business Staff was also responsible for designing the final section of the yearbook.

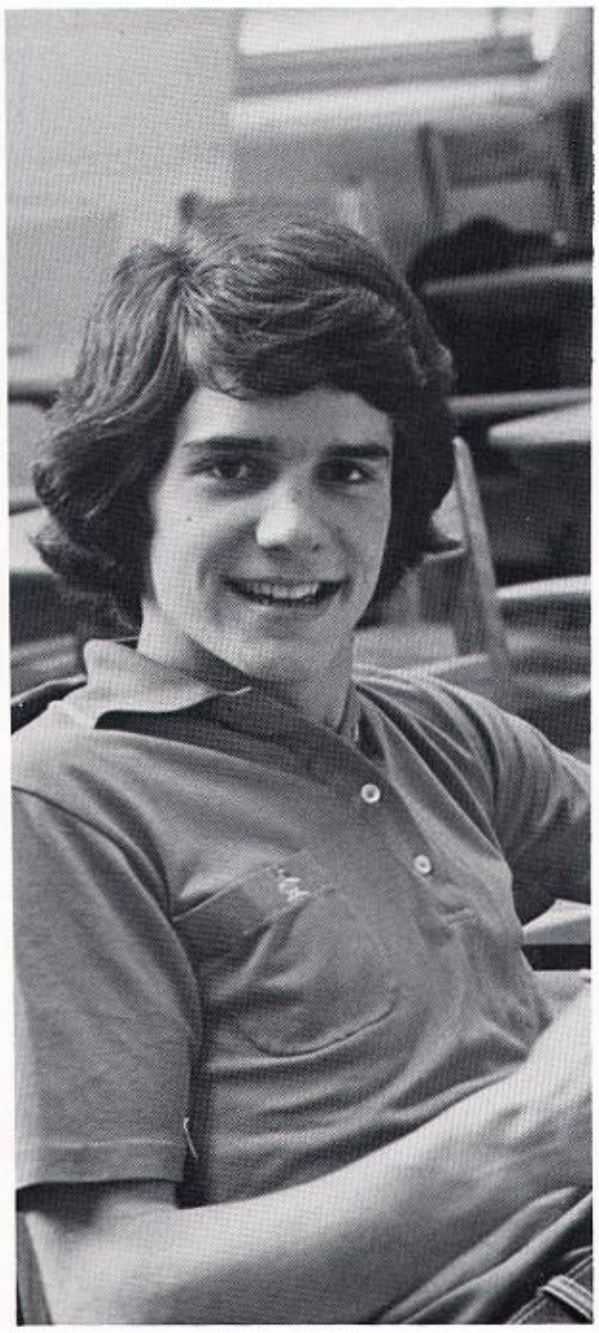
Leslie Clark prepares to bill advertisers.

Debbie Burns types copy for the Ads section.

ACCENT Focuses On Editorials

Concentrating on student activities, the SOUTHERN ACCENT staff urged members of the student body to express their opinions on current issues. Although the ideas represented in each monthly edition were those of the seven member staff, with Jay Sifford as editor, any interested student was welcome to help. The SOUTHERN ACCENT kept up-to-date records of all sports events. Learning layout procedure and business techniques were important benefits of working on the paper. Special photography and captions added another dimension to the concepts of the ACCENT.

Editor Jay Sifford, Lori Levy, and Cindy McGee check picture placement.



Eddie Barnhart outlines the next issue.

Staff members proofread copy of SOUTHERN ACCENT before printing.

BLADE Provides Club Information

Reporting with a tongue-in-cheek style, members of the SABRE'S BLADE strove to inform students and teachers about school activities. The BLADE, which was distributed each Tuesday by staff members, initiated a new format. Included were new features such as interviews and editorials. The SABRE'S BLADE was the principal source of notification for all club meetings and school events.

Adviser Ms. Tawney and editor JoAnn Rutan discuss new format.

Pam Beckedorf ponders over idea for next editorial.

The SABRE'S BLADE Staff fit the final copies of the paper together.

Club Enjoys French Cuisine

Combining learning with fun, the French Club members were entertained with skits performed by students in the French III class. Such plays included "La Farce du Cuvier" and a Mardi Gras celebration. The club had as its honorary member an exchange student from France, Jocelyne Cuenin, who contributed to every meeting. President Chrissy Moussalli stressed the importance of learning through entertainment. Members were instructed in making crepes and also sampled many French foods. As adviser for the group, Mr. Blanton encouraged an awareness of and appreciation for the cultures of French speaking countries.

Spanish Traditions Highlight Club

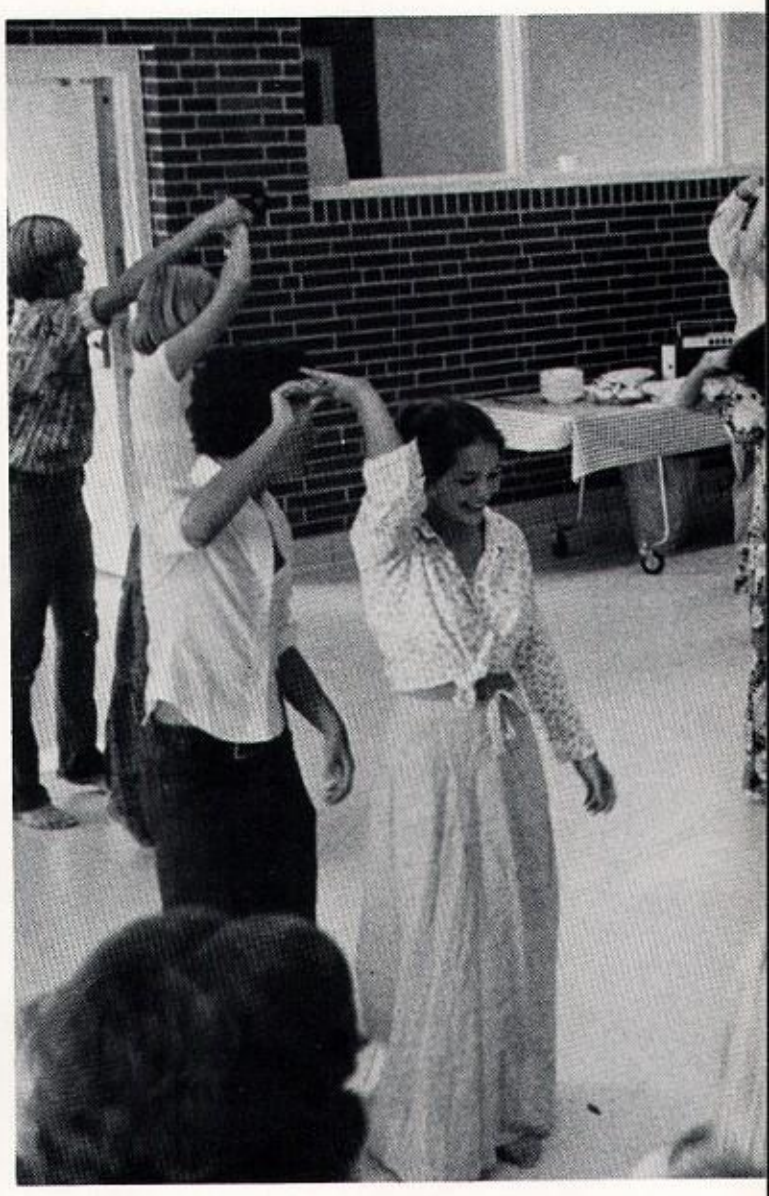
The Spanish Club enjoys refreshments.

Realizing the importance of Spanish influence upon the nation's heritage, the Spanish Club attempted to preserve the early Spanish culture. Members of the club studied traditions in various Spanish speaking countries by celebrating several festivals including a Columbus Day, a Homage to Cuba Day, a Mexican Christmas, and a Spanish Speaking Country Festival. The activities associated with these festivals included pantomimes, original plays, and a pinata celebration, dances, songs, and displays, along with the usual refreshments and snacks.



Many members participate in a dance given at a banquet.

The Spanish Club officers enjoy themselves before a meeting.

Spanish Honor Society Tutors Students

Adding a true Spanish flavor, the girls from Chile brought with them the traditions of South America. Students with a superior knowledge of Spanish met with adviser Mrs. Pedersen to discuss future plans and current happenings of the group. The purpose of the club was to better the quality and interest in the Spanish culture throughout the school. Rachel Karriker, president, and members of the Spanish Honor Society met together for their annual banquet at Christmas.

Inductions were held in the spring for new members. Tutoring was a major project of the club in which members helped comprehend the language through interesting techniques.

National Honor Society Acts In Follies

Recognizing leadership qualities, excellent character, and a desire for service among academically superior students were the goals of the National Honor Society. The major project of the year for the group was the publishing of the Student Directories. Members of the National Honor Society participated in the '76 Senior Follies and, under the leadership of president David Warlick, sponsored Convocations in the spring.

Junior Civitans Obtain Charter

Initiating the idea for the formation of the club was president Katie McKelvey. The Civitan Club, which was sponsored by the Sharon Civitan Club, provided service and leadership. During its first year of organization, the Junior Civitan proposed many projects, including Christmas caroling at nursing homes, a Campus Clean-Up, a Car Wash, and a Garage Sale. A banquet was held by the sponsoring Civitan Club to award the club with its charter.

Civitan Club members discuss planned projects.

Project Aries Involves Students

Developed because of the need for students to express themselves and their problems, Project Aries gave students an opportunity to become more involved, and thus better informed. Project Aries was a community organization in all junior and senior high schools. The staff, headed by Sanford Cohen, worked with students, teachers, and parents in Carmel and Quail Hollow Junior Highs in such areas as human relations, student leadership, problem solving, and in almost any other area where help was needed.

Amy Lockwood and Jo Beth Rambo listen to proposed activities.

Harriet Porter and Sandy Cohen help Quail Hollow Student Council to a better understanding of human relations.

SOS Collects Toys For Tots

President Leslea Modenbach directs meeting.

Concerned with the school and the surrounding community, the SOS Club, Sabres Out to Serve, planned many fund-raising projects. October was highlighted by a progressive supper for new members. Although the Interkey-SOS soccer game resulted in a loss for the club, three hundred dollars was raised for the Holy Angels' Nursery. The organization, which met every other week, gave a luncheon for teachers at the beginning of the year and collected Toys for Tots at Christmas. The annual SOS-Interkey Spaghetti Supper was a big success. President Leslea Modenbach and SOS Member of the Year Kari Still promoted interest in one of the major service clubs of the school.

Interact Holds Olympic Car Bash

Interact Club members assemble before a meeting.

Sponsored by the Dilworth Rotary Club, the Interacts not only provided service for the school, but also aimed at helping the community and world through projects. One of the more serious projects was helping a needy family at Christmas. The organization served the community by marshaling at the Carrousel Parade. Sending money to Bolivian children for food and clothing was Interact's world project. During Homecoming Week, the group sponsored the Lettergirls. The members also boosted school spirit by holding an Olympic Car Bash. President Pat O'Boyle strove to achieve more participation and unity in the club.

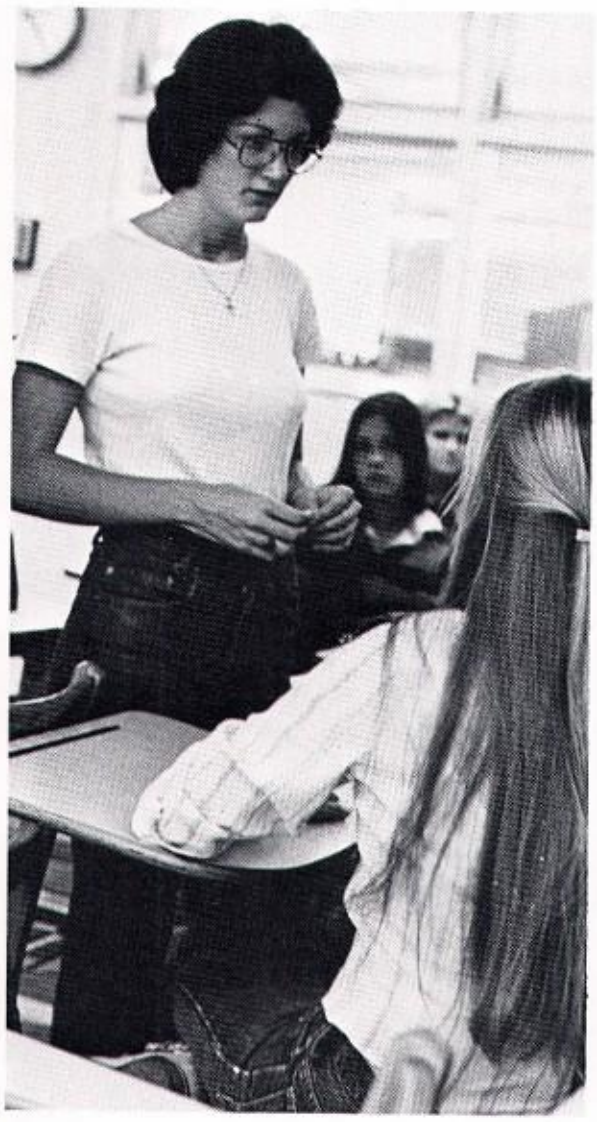
Interkeys Beat SOS In Soccer

Working with SOS on several functions, members of Interkeys contributed to the school through their many services. After interviewing many interested girls, president Karen Tagalos and the other members of the Interkeys initiated thirty-one juniors and seniors during October.

Food and donations were collected at Thanksgiving to help sponsor a needy family; the girls also joined together for Christmas caroling. Weeks of practice paid off when the girls defeated the SOS team in a game of soccer, but the two clubs later joined to co-sponsor a Spaghetti Supper.



President Karen Tagalos listens to ideas about initiation festivities.

Promotional Project Aids Key Club

President Mike O'Boyle explains the Chick-Fil-A project.

With the help of president Mike O'Boyle, the Key Club gained access to a promotional project for Chick-Fil-A of Southpark. Advertisements sponsored by the club were broadcast over WAYS and WROQ radio stations to promote a game drive for Mercy Hospital. Another project which brought money into the school and the community was the annual doughnut sale. A major project throughout the year was assisting the Olympic Key Club in their search for a rock for their school.

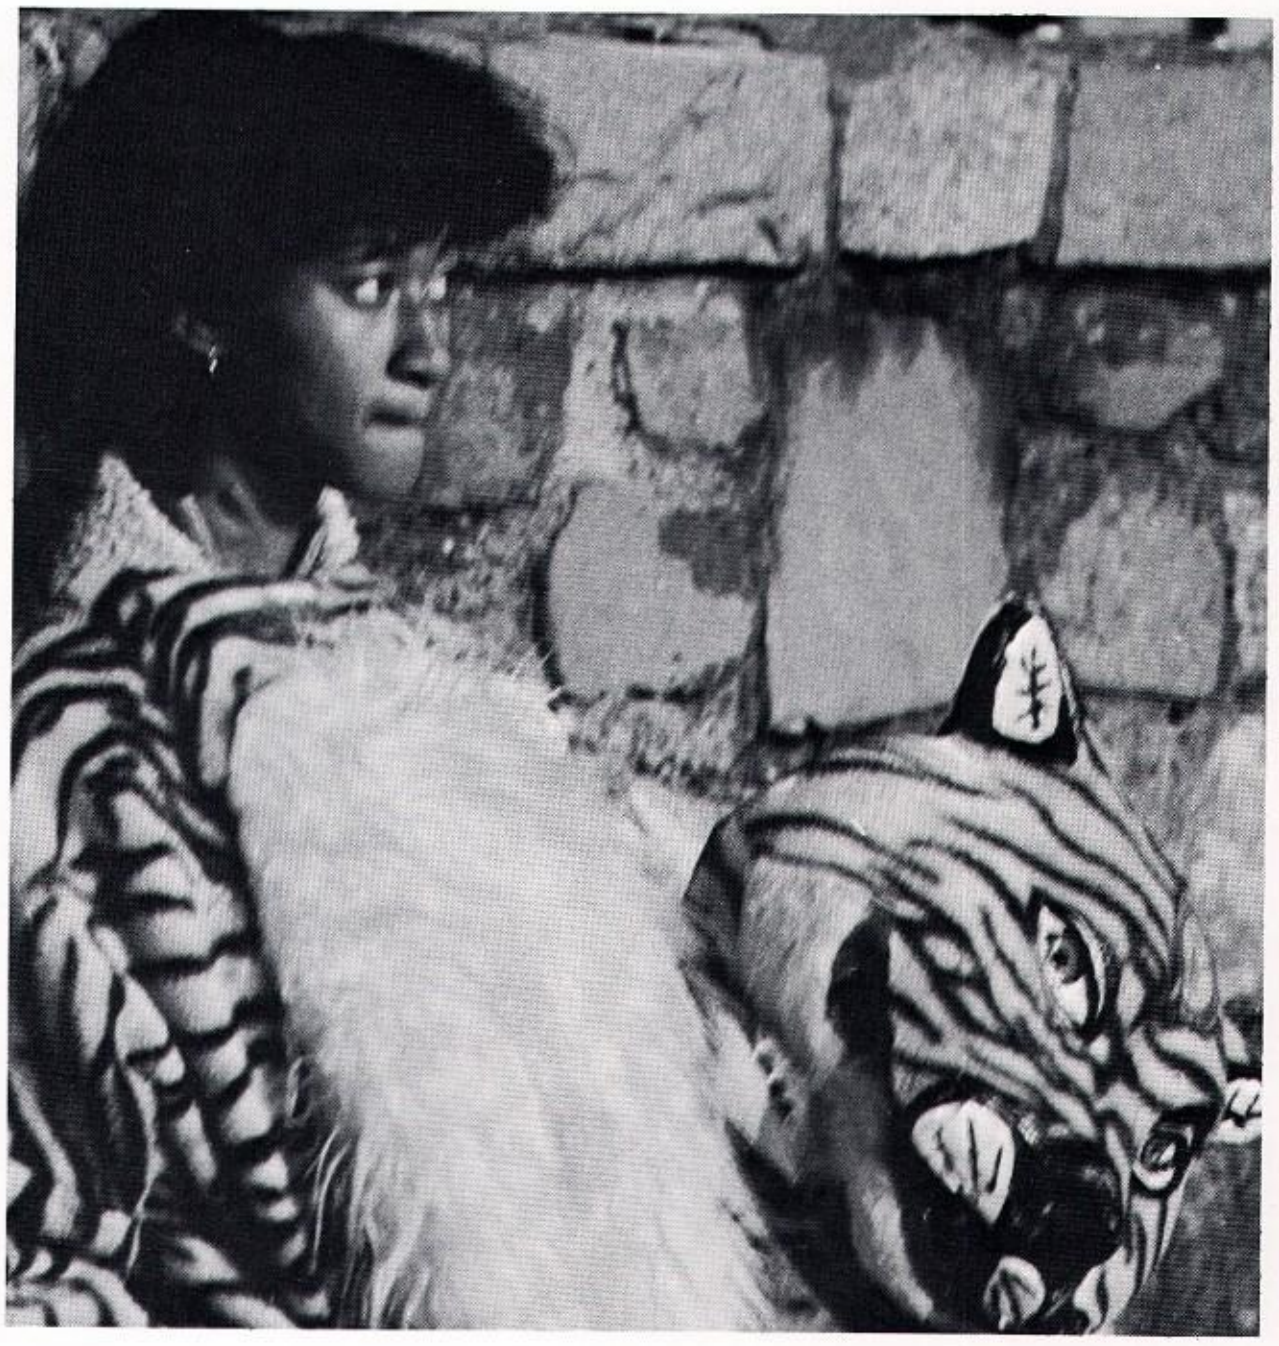
The Key Club proposes a date for the annual doughnut sale.

Key Club member Tommy George listens to proposed activities.

Pep Club Focuses On Spirit

Promoting as much school spirit as possible was the Pep Club's chief objective. Club president Kim Presar strove to involve students in school activities. The club was responsible for the spirit signs which often decorated the campus. Each week of the football and basketball seasons, a member was selected to wear the Sabre mascot suit. Selling Sabre buttons was also one of the projects of the club.

Treasurer Debbie Burns collects dues.



Sabrina McPherson anxiously awaits the outcome of a play.

Pep Band Boosts School Spirit

Mark Mabel strikes the beat at a basketball pep rally.

Chuck Curlin and Doug Phillips play with the band at a home basketball game.

Beginning each pep rally with a hard driving beat, the Pep Band sought to boost school morale. The group usually met every Thursday or the day before a home basketball game. Student director Mark Mabel led the Band in such hits as "The Horse," "Does Anybody Really Know What Time It Is," and "TSOP." Mr. Neel, adviser, assisted the group, conducting during practice and giving tips on how to improve.

David Stanhope concentrates on his music.

Stage Band Performs Jazz Music

Meeting on Tuesday nights, the Stage Band consisted of students interested in experiencing jazz music. The nineteen-member group participated in several concerts, including the January PTA. The Stage Band also made tours to feeder schools. Under the direction of Mark Mabel, the Band performed such songs as "You Make Me So Very Happy," "L'il Darling," and "Night Train."

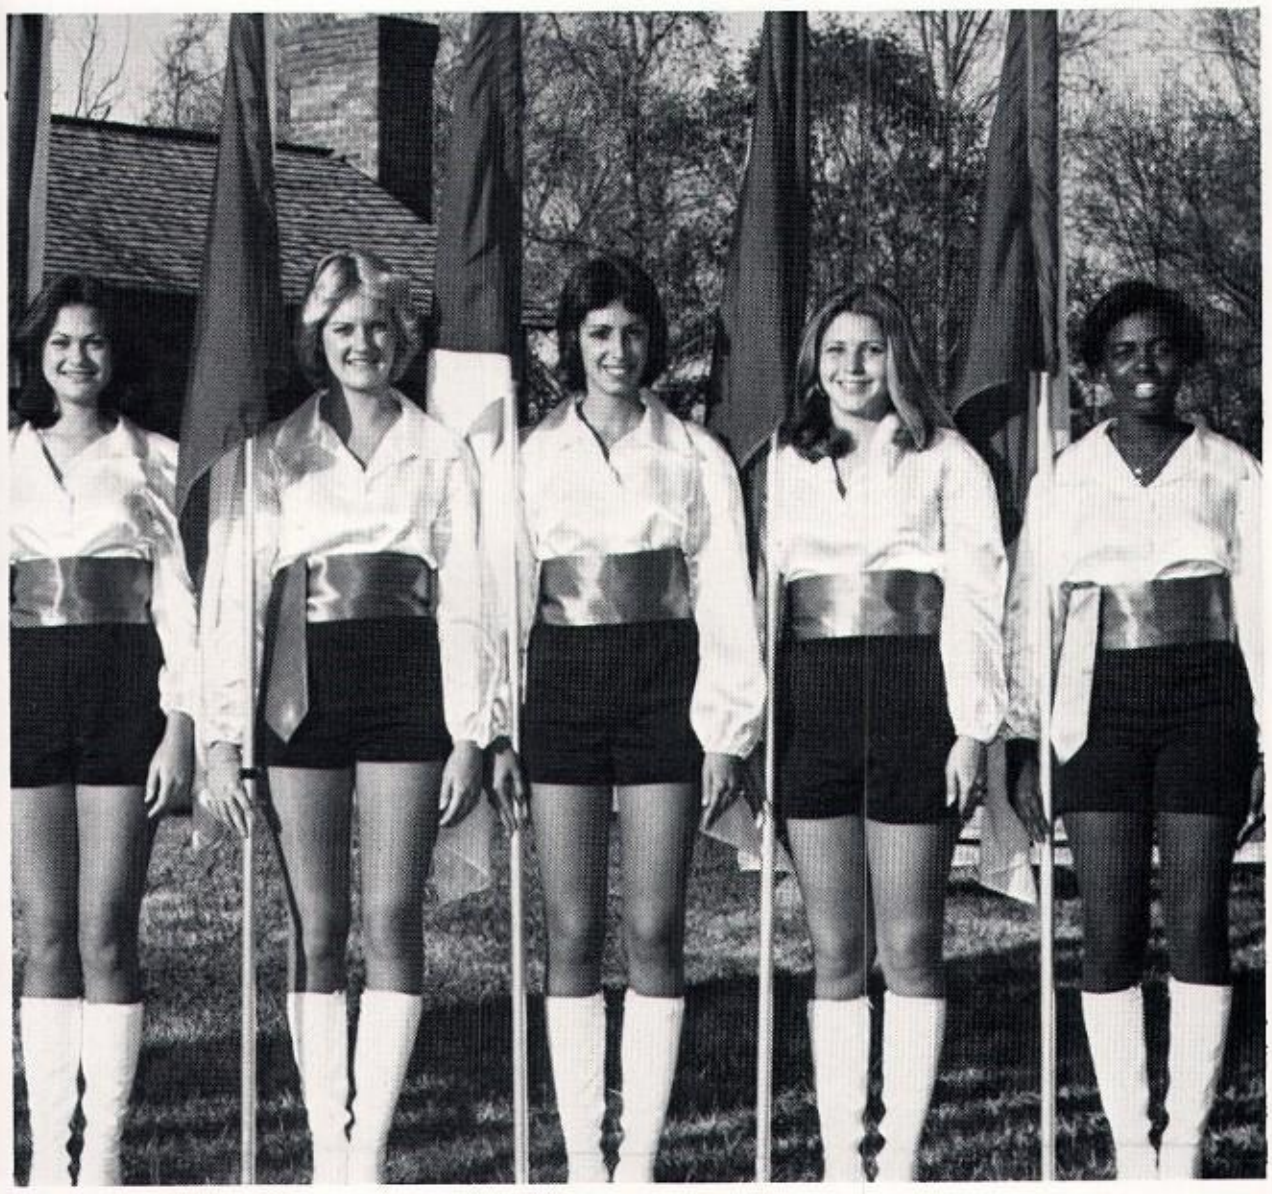
Flag Girls Hold Tryouts



Flag Girls proudly present new uniforms.

For the first time at South, tryouts were held for the selection of Flag Girls. The eight girls, who were chosen for their marching ability, participated with the Performing Band during all parades and halftime activities. Meeting as a class each day, the group worked out a new routine for every football game. Head Flag Girl Diane Jenkinson strove for correct timing and precision in the performances. Waving their bright red and white banners, the Flag Girls complemented and unified the Performing Band with their routines.

Spelling out the pride of the school, the Lettergirls moved to the beat of the music during their many performances. Headed by Kathy McCann and Kim McKeown, the group performed as part of the band. The sixteen girls met each day as a class and perfected their routines. A new show was organized for each halftime at the football and basketball games. The highlights of the year were the Charlie Chaplin skit and the Lettergirls' version of the flappers performed during the Homecoming festivities. Planning a Lettergirl Clinic for upcoming years was a major project for the group.

Orchestra Combines

Providing the instrumental student with an opportunity to improve playing abilities and concepts through numerous performances was a major purpose of the Orchestra. Concentrating on many different aspects of music, director Mr. Neel made suggestions for intonation, balance, and improved sound quality. Practicing fourth period each day, the group prepared for such functions as the Christmas Concert, as well as performing for various junior high schools.

Concert Choir Salutes

Studying the works of the nation's best composers, the Concert Choir brought special emphasis to the Bicentennial spirit through song. The choral group, which also performed advanced choral literature from all periods of musical composition, consisted of sixty voices; members were selected by audition. In competition, the group served as the representative choral organization for the school. Public performances were given for the PTA, the All-County Choral Festival, the All-State Choral Festival, and the State Choral Concert.

Directed by Mr. Stabler, the Concert Choir sings a medley of Christmas songs.

Super Sabre Stabler Singers Perform

Selected from the Concert Choir, the Super Sabre Stabler Singers were an auditioned ensemble of twenty voices. Advanced classical and modern pieces represented the majority of study for the group. Like the other school choral groups, the Super Sabre Stabler Singers worked with music by American composers to help express the Bicentennial spirit. The first performance was scheduled in January for the PTA; other sessions were organized for school assemblies and civic clubs throughout the community. The Super Sabre Stabler Singers sang literature from various periods of musical history.

Ski Club Enjoys Record Snow Fall

Physical activity outside the school was the main objective in the organization of the Ski Club. Basic instruction and explanation of the aspects of skiing were demonstrated at Appalachian Ski Mountain. A day was spent at Sugar Mountain; another trip was a five-day excursion to Snow Shoe Mountain during Christmas vacation. Members spent the spring break enjoying the slopes at Steam Boat, Colorado. The club emphasized fun as opposed to skill.

Art Club Designs Logo For Gallery

Art Club members enjoy themselves during a meeting.

Uniting different ideas and styles for one basic cause, the Art Club designed an art logo for the Stu-Art Gallery Ltd. A major project throughout the year was to support the efforts and growth of this new association where members exhibited work. The purpose of the club was to develop an awareness and appreciation for the different concepts of art.

President Brenda Walker ponders over idea.

Lisa Kenion puts the finishing touches on her drawing.

Drama Club Buys Equipment

In order to bring a successful production to the student body, the Drama Club spent long hours studying, rehearsing, and finalizing their presentation. Two major changes in this year's production were the increase in cast members and the number of sophomores participating; many of the actors had never been on stage before. "Up the Down Staircase" was presented in November in the new auditorium. Over three hundred people attended the event each night. Profits obtained from the sale of tickets were used for buying equipment such as lights, microphones, and scripts.

Forensics Compete Successfully

Competing with various high schools for awards and trophies, the Debate Team gained valuable knowledge and techniques for future tournaments. Mrs. Rowell, adviser, also suggested several successful methods for debate. For each contest, four debators were required: two affirmative and two negative. Three members also participated in the oratory. One of these, David Warlick, was awarded four first place awards in original oratory.

Science Club Studies Energy

The Science Club discusses an upcoming trip.

Promoting interest and student participation, the Science Club sought a greater insight into the science-related world. The club, with president Steve Harris, visited the construction site of the new McGuire Nuclear Plant; a speaker from the plant also came to the school several times to comment on the progress in the nuclear fields. In their process of study, the club had officials from Duke Power company discuss the environmental impact of nuclear power as well as the pros and cons of the nuclear generating facility. The main concern throughout the year was to pursue interests of the scientifically oriented mind.

David Furr, Debra Scott, and Kathy Neckerman relax before a meeting.

Ecology Club Keeps Campus Clean

A fund-raising project was selling drinks at the Disco.

Concerning themselves with community problems and striving to make the community a better place for future generations, the Ecology Club conducted several recycling drives, the most successful being an aluminum can drive. Speakers from such ecological societies as the Sierra Club, the Steele Creek Nature Preserve, and the television program "Wild Kingdom" made presentations to the school. The major purpose of the club was to promote interest in ecology and to involve students through this field in the school and community.

Color guard displays the flag at the Carrousel Parade.

Organized as a preparation for military life, N.J.R.O.T.C. exposed students to the different aspects of naval training. Commander of the unit, Scot Renegar, led the drill team in many hours of drill practice. Male and female color guards presented the flags at all home football games. Demonstrating precision movements, the drill team performed at the pep rally before the Homecoming game. In competition at Smithfield Selma, the male company ranked first in regulation drills and second in trick maneuvers; the female company finished second in trick maneuvers, also. Members of the N.J.R.O.T.C. attended the Military Ball in December; junior and senior members were invited to a ball in March. One of the many activities which the organization participated in was a trip to Norfolk, Va., where they toured the naval base.

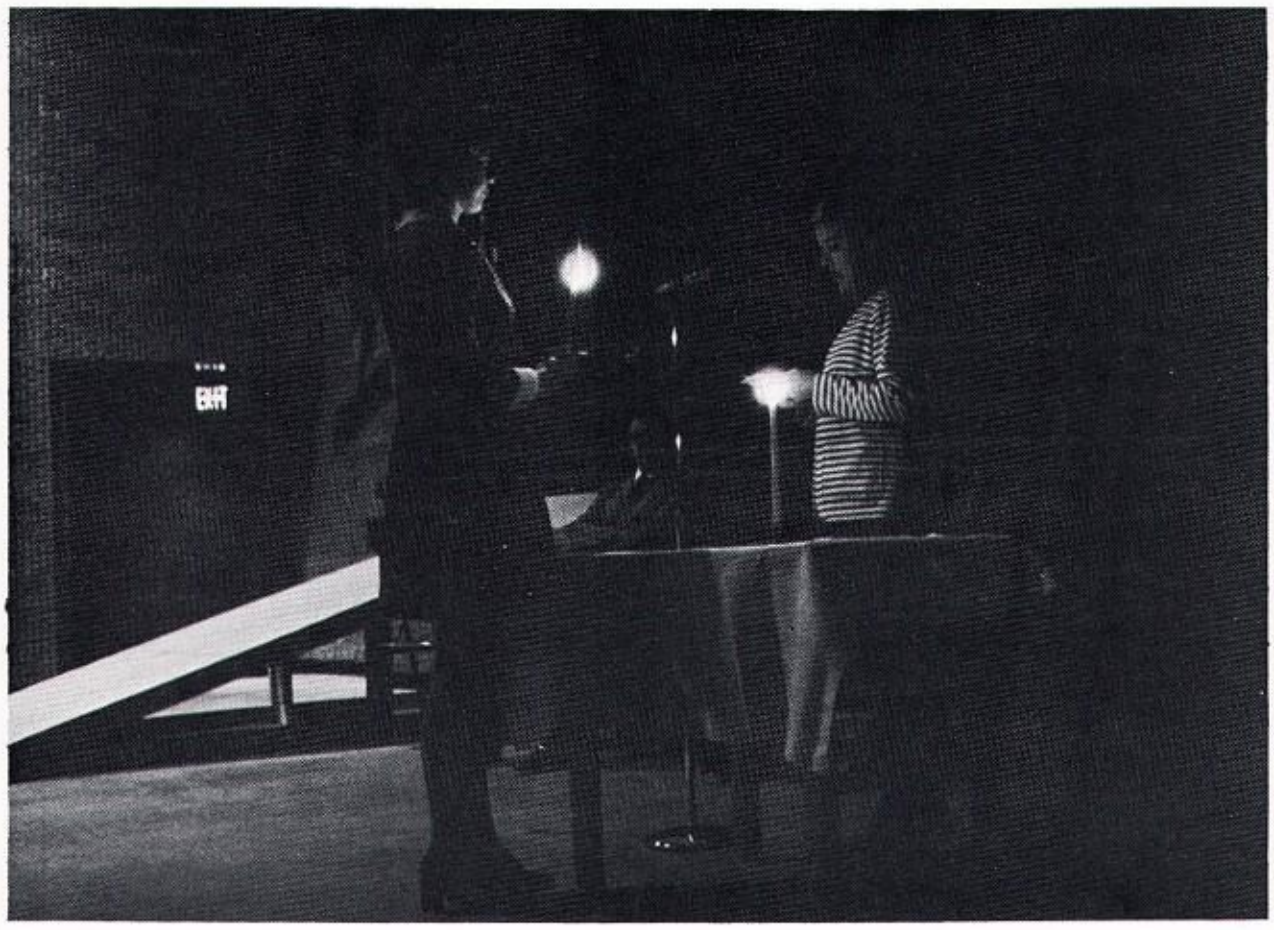
FBLA Develops Business Leadership

Stephanie Groves and Dianne Campbell serve refreshments to new members.

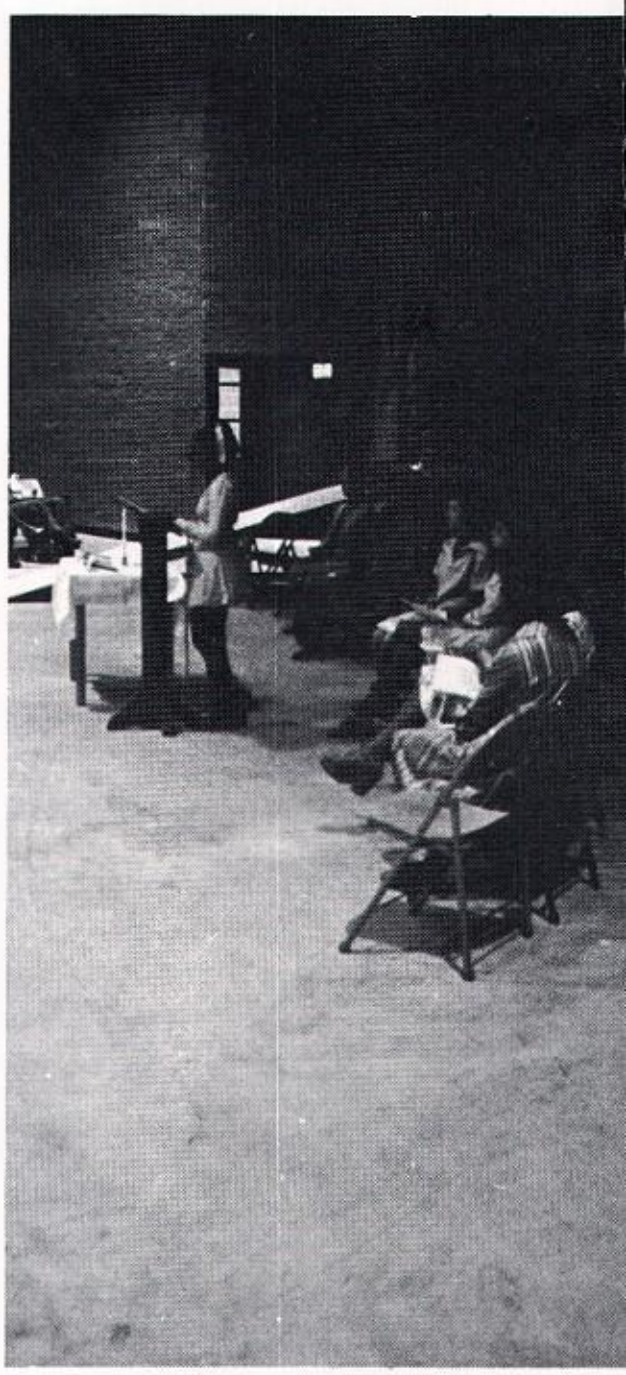
To develop competent, aggressive business leadership was the primary goal of the Future Business Leaders of America. FBLA provided students with a better understanding of the various occupational fields, thus enabling them to make a more intelligent vocational choice.

The organization encouraged improvement in scholarship and school loyalty as well as home and community improvements. Workshops in parliamentary procedure were held for FBLA officers.

Besides holding a candy sale to raise money, the major project of the year was the March of Dime drive.



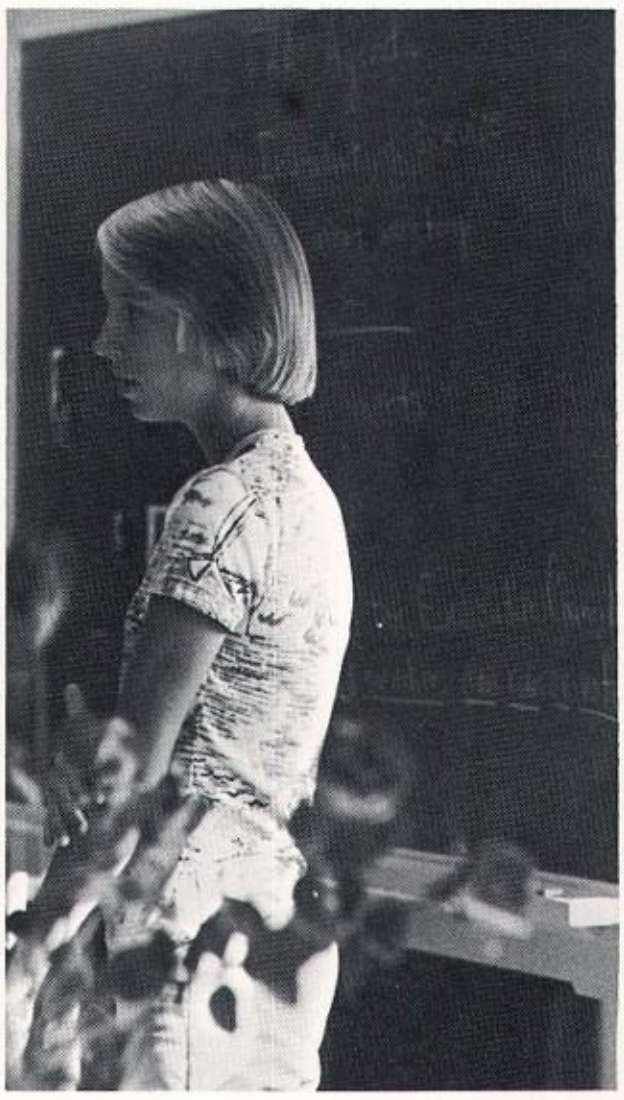
Dianne Campbell is installed as president.



Grace Augustus gives a speech on the importance of business.

FHA Visits Hospital Children

Jennifer Ashford and Mrs. Frye listen for ideas for the upcoming trip.



Chris Dodson goes over the meeting's agenda.

Meeting monthly, the Future Homemakers of America discussed the importance of the homemaker.

The purpose of the club was to prepare the student to be a successful citizen in the society.

The FHA visited the hospital and made articles for the children there. Another proposed project by the club president, Chris Dodson, was selling greeting cards.

Beth Talley slices cake for serving.

Mrs. Frye and Ms. Pharr take part in induction ceremonies.

Bus Drivers Shift School Into Gear

Relaxing and socializing at their meetings, the Bus Drivers' Club discussed everything from rising gasoline prices to the length of the bus routes. Meetings usually took place at Shakey's. Several members gained local publicity when they added their own personal touch to their busses, such as white and silver tires and carpeted dashboards. A movement for equal pay for all bus drivers was also instigated by South drivers.

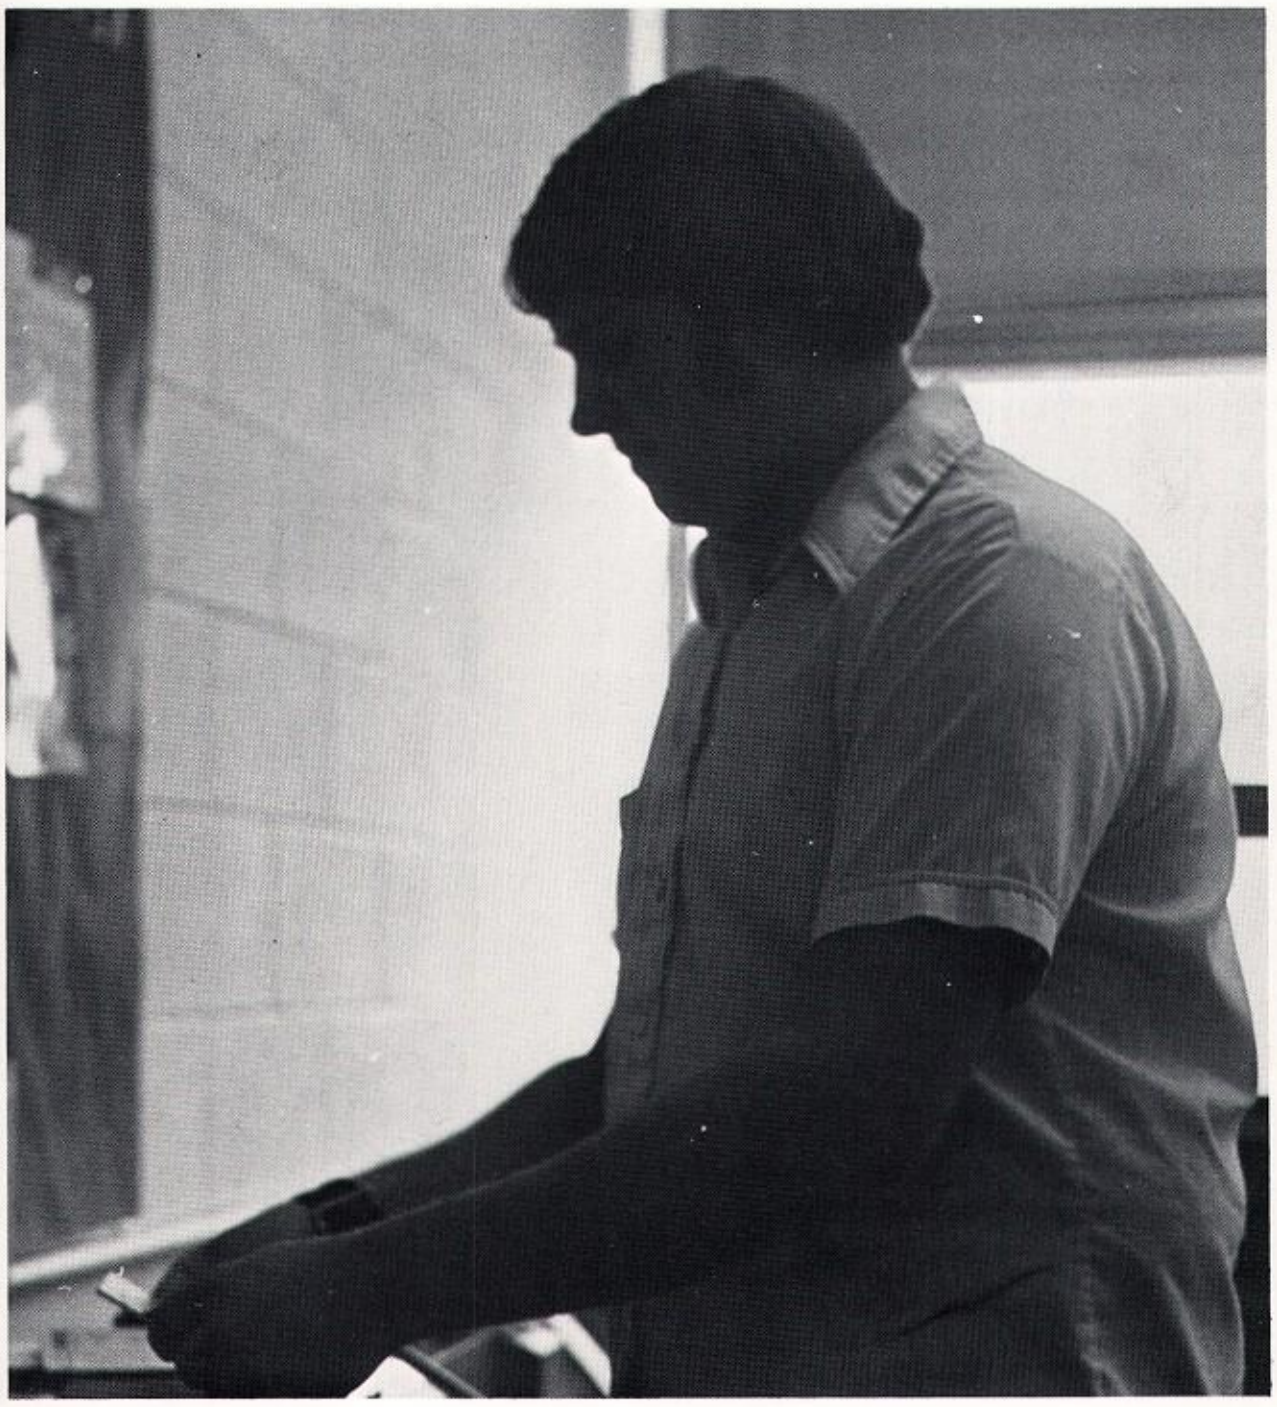
Computer Club Carpets Room



Steve Kuekes sends daily attendance through computer.

Using the technology of today as a basic stepping stone, the Computer Club profitted by putting that technology to useful purpose. Computer dating forms were sold in the fall to help raise money to carpet the computer room. The club, which was open to all interested students, also sold power tables and biorhythms.

Cone fabrics have stood for freedom from the start...since 1895, when America began living in them. The first to come to light was deeptone denim, and Cone became the leading manufacturer of this famous fabric. Next, came corduroy, an equal winner. But Cone didn't stop there. In fact, denim and corduroy are just two of the many fabrics that have won acclaim for Cone Mills in its 81-year history.

Today, with 23 modern plants, Cone creates a whole line of quality fabrics for casualwear, sportswear, sleepwear, uniforms and career apparel, fabrics for home-sewing—even polyurethane foam and dyestuffs are now part of the Cone family of products.

The employees of Cone Mills—approximately 14,000 in all—are proud of their part in creating basic fabrics that are the backbone of American casual fashion.

Cone®

Would you like to be a part of the Cone team? Contact us at any of our plant locations in the following communities:

Cliffside, Forest City, Gibsonville, Greensboro, Haw River, Henrietta, High Point, Hillsborough, Pineville, Reidsville, Salisbury, North Carolina; Carlisle, Cheraw, Greenville, South Carolina; Haleyville, Alabama; Tupelo, Mississippi.

Cone makes fabrics people live in.®
